KIDNAPED GREENLEASE BOY FOUND DEAD

NIXONS LEAVE ON GLOBAL TOUR. Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon wave on the ramp of their plane shortly before leaving Washington on a 72-day goodwill tour of the Far East. Nixon, as a presidential envoy, plans to obtain views of national leaders "on all the great problems which confront the free nations."

Russians Not Set for War, Wilson Says

Won't Be Prepared For Atomic Attack Within Three Years

By ELTON C. FAY AND JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says he doesn't believe the Russians will be ready to wage sustained atomic war within three years and that they may not have now an actual ready-to-use hydrogen bomb.

Wilson told a news conference yesterday that "to say they have a (hydrogen) bomb ready to drop and planes ready to drop them is perhaps stretching it a bit." He said he thinks the Russians are "three or four years back of us" in atomic weapons development.

Follow Ike's Talk

The secretary spoke only a few hours after President Eisenhower, in a talk at Atlantic City, N. J., had gravely recited the danger of atomic attack on the United States.

The contrast between Wilson's words and the note of urgency sounded in the past by other administration officials made it evident that Eisenhower faced something of a problem in trying to get his official family to agree on whether there is imminent danger from Russian H-bombs.

Moscow announced on Aug. 20 that "the explosion of a type of hydrogen bomb was carried out with experimental aim" shortly before that date.

By today Eisenhower and the country had in addition to Wilson's opinions the publicly expressed views of several other U. S. officials, including:

Other Views

1. A written statement last weekend by Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming that Russia now "is capable of delivering suddenly and without warning the most destructive weapon ever devised by man on chosen targets in the United States." Flemming told newsmen he meant the hydrogen bomb, but later said he had not intended to go beyond what had been said by the Atomic Energy Commission. The strongest statement from an AEC source has been that Russia tested a hydrogen "device."

2. Another weekend statement by Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, that Russia has enough "deliverable" hydrogen bombs to create real and imminent danger for the United States.

3. A comment Monday by Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson that he was "assuming" no one has a hydrogen bomb yet. He distinguished between a thermonuclear or hydrogen test "device" and a "transportable bomb."

The United States is widely assumed to have practical H-bombs, although no official statement to that effect has been made.

The President, upon whom devolves the ultimate responsibility for deciding how close the danger is, avoided a time forecast or any flat claim that the U. S. S. R. has or doesn't have an actual hydrogen bomb when he spoke yesterday at Atlantic City. He talked somberly of the "mysteries of the atom" being known to Russia, of atomic war which could bring "erasure of cities, windrows of unidentifiable dead, the possible doom of every nation and society."

FBI AGENTS NAB 'SECOND STRING' REDS. In a series of lightning-swift raids, FBI agents rounded up seven "second string" officials of the Communist party in Ohio on charges of conspiring to overthrow the government by force. Nabbed in Cleveland, Lorain and Steubenville, O., New York City and Newark, N. J., were (from left, top) Freida Katz; Lucille Bethencourt; Elvador Claude Greenfield and David Katz, husband of Freida. Also picked up were (from left, bottom) Joseph Dougher, Joseph Brandt and Robert A. Campbell. An eighth Red functionary, Frank Hashmall (bottom, extreme right) is serving time in Ohio State penitentiary.

Youth, 6, Slain By Abductors, FBI Chief Says

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The FBI notified the wealthy parents of Bobby Greenlease at 11 a. m. EST today that the 6-year-old kidnaped boy is dead.

Robert Ledterman of Tulsa, a spokesman for the family, said: "We have just had a report from the FBI that the body was found at St. Joseph."

Less than a half hour later, the FBI office here told newsmen the body of the little boy was "found a few minutes ago by FBI agents based on the results of arrests in St. Louis."

In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that Carl Austin Hall, 37, one of the alleged abductors now in custody, has admitted that he shot the boy.

The body of the child was located in a shallow grave in St. Joseph, Hoover said. The announcement said that the greater portion of $600,000 ransom paid by Bobby's parents for his return has been recovered.

Hoover said two arrests have been made.

A woman in custody is Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41.

Hoover said these two, arrested by St. Louis police, implicated Thomas John Marsh, 37, a convict who was released from the Missouri State Prison Oct. 2, 1951, from a two-year term which he started serving on June 29, 1950, on a charge of molesting a minor child.

Paroled in April

Hall was paroled from the Missouri State Penitentiary April 24, 1953, from a five-year sentence for robbery which he started serving on Jan. 29, 1952.

Mrs. Heady also has a record of numerous arrests.

The FBI said the $600,000 ransom turned over to the kidnapers by the father, 71-year-old Robert C. Greenlease, was paid last Sunday night, Oct. 4.

The FBI announcement said Bobby's badly decomposed body was found behind the premises of Bonnie Brown Heady at St. Joseph.

The FBI did not immediately say whether these circumstances indicated that the child was dead when the money was collected.

Bobby was taken away from his school 10 days ago by a woman who represented herself as a messenger from his mother. She told the school that Bobby's mother was ill.

Hall Handled Letters

The FBI said it has been definitely established that Hall handled the letters demanding the $600,000 ransom payment.

Norbert O'Neil, one of the spokesmen for the Greenlease family, said a dentist was being sent to St. Joseph to check the body of the boy found there.

"It is my understanding that positive identification has not been confirmed," O'Neil said. "No member of the family is in St. Joseph. We hope it is not true."

Murder in Missouri is punishable by a maximum penalty of death in the gas chamber.

Alleged Killers Possess Long Crime Records

Demand Time Limit Extended

U.N. Stalling POW Talks, Reds Charge

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists today accused the U. N. Command of stalling the start of explanations to war prisoners who refuse to go home and demanded an extension of the time limit.

The UNC flatly turned down the demand for more time and denied responsibility for the delay.

Allied and Communist teams were to begin meeting Sept. 26 with the prisoners in an attempt to persuade them to return home. Allied officers have 359 POWs—including 23 Americans—to interview while the Red agents will talk to some 22,500 North Koreans and Chinese.

Allies Say Rules Clear

A dispute over facilities has stalled the start of the interviews. The Allies insist the armistice agreement clearly spells out that the explanation period end Dec. 24, regardless of delays. The Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said Tuesday he agreed with the U. S. stand.

There were indications that the interviews would get under way next week, provided the Allies finish temporary explanation facilities.

The Reds made the demand at a meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission and also

1. Protested the 'public clamor' in South Korea for ROK troops to drive into the neutral zone and free the anti-Communist POWs.

2. Charged the UNC is sending "special agents" into the demilitarized zone to contact the prisoners and "undermine" the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, which has custody of the POWs. The UNC denied the accusation.

Would Be Serious

The senior Red delegate to the armistice commission, North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, said any attack by the South Koreans would "have serious consequences."

He asked Maj Gen Blackshear M Bryan, his commission counterpart, what the Allied command was doing to prevent a South Korean show of force.

"Our side," Bryan replied coldly, "understands its responsibilities with regard to maintaining security and order . . . (and) . . . will discharge its responsibility."

The chairman of the repatriation commission, Indian Lt. Gen K. S. Thimayya, sent a note to the UNC protesting the South Korea threats.

He said he wished to remind the Allied command that it had the responsibility to "insure security and order" in areas under its control.

Thimayya told a news conference Tuesday it was up to the UNC to head off any South Korean move to attack Indian troops.

Meanwhile, thousands of South Koreans demonstrated Wednesday in the port city of Pusan against "Indian slaughters of nonrepatriate prisoners."

Placard-carrying Koreans paraded quietly in the downtown plaza, protesting against Indian troops who last week quelled two attempted breakouts of anti-Red prisoners in the neutral zone. Three prisoners were killed in the escape attempts.

Ohio Probers Call Three in Investigations

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Un-American Activities Commission, which spent yesterday listening to repeated references to the Fifth Amendment, hears three more witnesses today.

Four men and a woman refused to answer yesterday when asked if they were Communist Party members and all of them backed their refusals by referring to the Fifth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The amendment, part of the "Bill of Rights," specifies that no one "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

Those who testified were:

Myron W Thomas, who said he was born in Millersburg, Holmes County seat, and that he now lived at Cuyahoga Falls.

Lloyd Arnold, who said he was born in Wayne County in 1889, was educated in public schools and a chiropractic college and now lives in Akron.

Mrs. Thelma C. Furry, an attorney who also represented the other four, and who read a statement declaring the committee was illegal.

Benedict Gorday, who said he was born near Minsk in Russia in 1890, that he came to the United State sin 1907, that he became a

Chest Supports Scouts, YMCA, Salvation Army

This is one in a series of articles on agencies participating in the United Appeals fund campaign, showing how your contributions help to make the community a better place in which to live. This year's campaign for $170,461 begins Oct. 12.

Four organizations which will benefit from donations received in the United Appeals drive which starts Monday are engaged in the care and betterment of the youth of Marion.

The four are the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the Young Men's Christian Association.

While the total work of the Salvation Army and the YMCA is also devoted to adults, a major part of their programs are directed at the youth of the community.

All four organizations are supported by the Community Chest, which is cooperating in the United Appeals campaign along with the Heart and Cancer Associations and Red Cross.

The Salvation Army youth program includes maintenance of a playground at the Citadel on N. Prospect St., sponsorship of Girl Guards and Girl Sunbeam troops, and annual summer camp outings for boys and girls in the community, including children in the Marion County Children's Home. For many of these children, the camping trips to Greenwood Lake at Delaware and Glendale near Cincinnati are high

$25,000 Bond Set for Four Alleged Reds

'Assets Nil,' One Says; Prosecution Hopes for Trial Within 6 Months

CLEVELAND (AP) — The government will insist on $25,000 bond for each of the four alleged "second-string" Communist officials picked up in Cleveland and Lorain, says John J. Kane Jr., district attorney.

"Defendants in these Communist conspiracy cases have demonstrated they have no desire of cooperating with the courts," Kane told a newsman. "They don't show up for trial, and if they show up for trial they don't reappear when it comes time to sentence them."

Cites Previous Actions

Kane said an example of this was the fact four of the 11 top Communist leaders tried in New York jumped their bail.

The four arrested here and in Lorain yesterday by FBI agents were held in county jail. They are David Katz 40, and his wife Frieda and Elvador C. Greenfield, 63, all of Cleveland, and Mrs. Lucille Bethencourt, 26, of Lorain.

Three others described by the government as Ohio ringleaders of the Communist party were arrested at the same time.

Joseph Brandt, 43, was picked up in Newark, N. J. Kane said he was the biggest figure in the capture. Joseph M. Dougher, 56, was arrested at Steubenville, and Robert A. Campbell was caught in New York City.

Detainer on Hashmall

In addition, a federal detainer was placed against Frank Hashmall, 34, now serving a sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for using a fictitious name to register an automobile.

All are charged with violation of the Smith Act, and are accused of advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government. Penalties for conviction range up to five years. The arrests brought to 99 the number of persons arrested as Communist officials.

Kane said he hoped to get the case here tried within six months, and remarked, "There's no reason for holding this up."

At the brief hearing in the Federal Bldg., Katz objected to the $25,000 bond and said, "Our assets are nil. I couldn't make $5,000 bond."

U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn said the size of the bond would not make much difference in those circumstances, but Katz replied, "No, we have got friends. We could go out and borrow the money."

Katz' wife said she had notified the Ohio Bill of Rights Conference of her arrest, and indicated she expected them to supply an attorney.

Horn gave the defendants two weeks to obtain counsel

BULLION MISSING

PARIS (AP) — French and Swiss police today investigated the reported disappearance of some 55 pounds of gold, worth about $34,000, from a Paris-to-Geneva Swiss plane. The bullion was part of a shipment loaded on a night flight Monday from Paris' Le Bourget Airfield.

Mercury Dips, Junior High School Closes

Near freezing temperatures, with some frost resulting, were recorded in Marion last night as the mercury dropped to 33, the lowest of the autumn season to date.

The cool temperature furnished Eber Baker Junior High School students with at least a one-day vacation today. The new heating plant at the building had not been completely installed and readied for service, so the pupils were dismissed this morning for the remainder of the day. Whether the students will return to the building tomorrow will depend a great deal on the weatherman.

In the more exposed places there were signs of frost this morning, but little damage resulted.

The lowest temperature was recorded near daybreak and by 9 a.m. the mercury had climbed to 40. The high yesterday was 57. A year ago, the readings were a high of 53 and a low of 24.

Fair weather was predicted for today with more frost expected tonight when the mercury will drop to between 28 and 34. Thursday will be fair with milder temperatures in the afternoon.

16th Polio Case Listed in City; County Has 26

Sixteenth case of polio in Marion was reported today by the City Board of Health. This raised the total for the county to a record high of 26 for the year.

Latest reported victim is three-year-old Elizabeth Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Baker of Oak Grove Ave. at the corner of Clinton St. She was taken to Children's Hospital at Columbus on Saturday and her illness was confirmed as polio following an examination.

Her parents told Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, the girl first became ill on Sept. 18, but her illness then was not believed to be polio.

Gamma globulin shots were authorized for a younger sister, 18-month-old Roseanna and to some other children who had contact with Elizabeth during her illness.

Last polio victim, reported by the County Board of Health on Sept. 29, was 11-year-old Barbara Burns of Prospect. She was the 10th person in the county outside the city to contact the disease this year.

Radar Experts Suspended at Ft. Monmouth

Army Probes Security At Signal Corps Lab; Top Secrets Involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army announced last night the suspension for security reasons of an undisclosed number of persons at its Signal Corps laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

It declined to give details. The Chicago Tribune press service said that among five persons suspended were two "top scientists engaged in the development of America's radar defenses against enemy attack."

Source Not Disclosed

The Tribune did not disclose the source of information for its copyrighted story, but said the Army's investigation stemmed from an inquiry by the Senate investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The Chicago Tribune account said those suspended included "two other scientific workers and a clerical employe, similarly employed in top secret military work."

"All five men . . . have had access for years to this country's defense secrets in the electronics field," the Tribune said in a dispatch from Washington written by Willard Edwards.

The Army, in a brief statement, disclosed no names and did not specify the security charges.

"These employes," it said, "have been given letters of charges stating the reasons for their suspension. They have the right within 30 days after the receipt of the charges to request a hearing before a security hearing board."

Order by Stevens

The Chicago Tribune said the suspensions "were personally ordered" by Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

The Tribune account continued "Thirty employes at Ft. Monmouth, in addition to those sus-

Longshoremen Clearing Cargo Jam From Piers

NEW YORK (AP)—A pileup of tons of cargo melted today as longshoremen set North Atlantic ports humming once again after a five-day strike.

Work resumption started yesterday after the government obtained a 10-day Taft-Hartley labor law injunction in the wage dispute.

Many of the estimated 50,000 to 60,000 striking members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) answered work calls on piers from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

Russia May Dicker

Non-Aggression Pact Is Linked to German Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Proposals for giving Russia guarantees against possible new German aggression are most likely to come to a head in concluding plans to arm Western Germany.

No one here knows whether such assurances would make German arming in the Western alliance any more acceptable to Russia. Many diplomats doubt that it would.

Worth a Try

Nevertheless, since the Western Powers now seem determined to go ahead with the German project, and since Russia is bitterly opposed, many feel the idea of a nonagression guarantee is at least worth a try.

Another circumstance under which Russia could very likely get Western assurances of Germany's future peaceful behavior would be in the event a German unification plan and peace treaty were concluded. In fact, some officials advocate offering a nonaggression guarantee only as part of a package deal with Russia on Germany.

Seek New Approach

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference yesterday that "the general problem of giving reassurance against the possible resurgence of German aggression is a matter which is being studied" by the United States in consultation with the British, French and West German governments.

Dulles said this government is

French Boycott Morocco Talk

Contend U.N. Has No Right To Debate Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—French delegates boycotted the U. N. Political Committee today to dramatize their contention that the world organization has no business debating the troubled situation in Morocco.

A spokesman said France would not even issue a statement blasting the opening of debate on the question in the 60-nation committee.

A year ago the U. N. assembly called on France to negotiate with Moroccan authorities "on an urgent basis" toward developing free political institutions. France refused to heed the resolution, contending that the affairs of her North African protectorates are domestic French problems.

Asian and Arab delegates—highly conscious of colonialism—contend that developments in disturbed Morocco make another U.N. try necessary.

Congressional Election Fodder

Administration's Power Policies Seen Hot Issue

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said Monday the Eisenhower administration's power policies may be under hotter fire in next year's congressional campaign than its farm program.

Aiken, who heads the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in an interview he believes the Republican reply to Democratic charges that the administration favors private over public power developments lies in expanding Rural Electrification Administration (REA) operations.

"The REA is expanding as it never did before and I think it is going to make a record under Republican control that we can talk about effectively," Aiken said.

The Vermont senator declared in a news conference yesterday that Democrats he did not name have been twisting statements of Secretary of Agriculture Benson and "talking prices down" by dire predictions of what will happen under the GOP administration. He conceded he thinks Benson has sometimes badly chosen his words.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said in a separate interview that he doesn't question Benson's honesty and intentions.

"But what is the farm program of this administration?" he asked. "Benson's statements have left only confusion in the minds of the farmers, who want to know what they can expect to replace the Russell-Young parity price support law."

The present price support law expires next year.

Russell said it was a "silly statement" to contend that rumors of any kind have affected farm prices.

He predicted the Democrats will win control of the House through Farm Belt dissatisfaction with Republican policies. Sen. Hoey (D-NC) said it looks that way to him too.

Hoey said that as he sees it the two big issues in next year's battle for control of Congress will be "dissatisfaction among the farmers and the adverse reception which has been given to the administration's increase in interest rates."

Bucyrus Blood Donors Top Goal Fourth Time

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—For the fourth consecutive time in 1953, Bucyrus area blood donors went "over the top" at a Red Cross bloodmobile unit visit here Monday. A total of 152 pints was collected from about 170 donors against a goal of 150 pints. Since Jan. 1, Bucyrus area residents have contributed 661 pints of blood, including 180 in January, 163 in April, and 166 in July. Goal for each visit was 150 pints.

Recruitment for yesterday's donation was in charge of the Bucyrus Ministerial Association with the Rev. Glenn F. Lockard, pastor of First Methodist Church, in charge of arrangements. The blood donor center is at the Elks Home.

The bloodmobile will return here Dec. 7, Mrs. Helen Weaver, executive secretary of the Crawford County Red Cross chapter, announced here today.

Turkey Industry Doing Well, Spokesman Says

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Everyone should be happy about Thanksgiving turkeys this year.

Bernard Simonsen of Clam Falls, Wis., president of the Northwest Turkey Growers Assn., told the organization's convention yesterday that consumers will be able to obtain good buys in turkeys for Thanksgiving, and turkey growers stand to make a fair profit.

"The turkey industry is in good shape this year," he said. "There is no excessive numbers to cause an oversupply, yet there will be plenty of birds for everyone in the nation."

Smog Probed as Cause Of Los Angeles Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The coroner has ordered an autopsy to determine if smog caused the death of a 69-year old woman last Saturday.

The woman, Mrs. Gertrude L. Call, died in an area which was heavily permeated by smog that day. Her physician, Dr. J. V. Barrow, wrote on the death certificate that Mrs. Call died of 'mild cardial infarction due to heat and smog.'

Infarction means lack of proper blood supply.

'I certainly think that smog was the cause of Mrs. Call's death,' said Dr. Barrow, former president of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn.

New Dodges Go on Display Thursday

1954 MODEL DODGES will go on display in Marion Thursday at the Ripley Motor Co., 646 N. Main St. A new series has been added to the Dodge line, the super deluxe Royal V-8, pictured above.

A total of 20 different models will be offered by Dodge this year in three series, the Royal V-8, the Coronet V-8 and six, and the Meadowbrook V-8 and six

A new automatic transmission, PowerFlite, is also featured in the 1954 Dodge. This requires no clutch pedal for shifting, and combines a torque converter with a two-speed planetary gearbox in smooth flowing driving operation.

There is also a new full-time power steering unit which has direct control and is of the "linkage" type. Dodge claims it is less complicated, more compact, easier to service, and has fewer parts than other systems.

Other new body features include the grille, which has been lowered and made wider for a more massive appearance, and the front end which has been restyled in the crest and chrome lined air scoop. Headlights and bumper guards have also been remodeled.

All interior trim this year has been designed to harmonize with the upholstery colors, and all interior colors are in harmony with the exterior body colors.

The instrument panel is treated with a new finish called "Leatherex." The top portion has a grainy, leather-type finish to reduce sun glare, while the bottom has a smooth finish of the same color.

Through a combination of chair - high seats and special windshield construction, the average sized drived of the new Dodge will be able to see all four fender lines.

In addition to the PowerFlite drive, Dodges are also available in the standard three - speed transmission, either with or without automatic overdrive.

The Red Ram V-8 engine has been increased to 150 horsepower, and in compression ratio to 7.5 to 1. Meadowbrook V-8 engines will remain the same as in the past Six cylinder engines will now be 110 horsepower with a compression ratio of 7 25 to one.

A new interior fabric, Jacquard, will be installed in the new cars. This is woven extra tightly to provide greater wear resistance. It will be three basic colors, green, blue, and red, with combinations of the three.

Indian Leaders Likely To Ban Liquor Sales

ALBUQUERUE, N. M. (AP)—It looks as if Indian leaders of New Mexico aren't as eager as their white brothers to okay sale of liquor to tribesmen.

The historical white ban against selling firewater to Indians was knocked out by New Mexico voters last month.

But the Indian Bureau area office says there is no indication native officials of 24 tribal communities under its jurisdiction plan, likewise, to approve liquor sales on reservations.

Tongay Trial Date To Be Set Tuesday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Date of trial for Russell Tongay, charged with manslaughter in the death of his swimming star daughter Kathy, will be set Tuesday.

Tongay, 36 - year -old former swimming instructor, pleaded innocent to the charge in Criminal Court yesterday and Judge Ben Willard said he would set trial date next week.

The state charges Tongay with "causing, permitting and commanding" the 5-year-old Kathy to "perform acts inherently dangerous" by ordering her to jump from a high tower into a pool of water.

The information also said that Kathy "struck the water with great force. . . causing her to sustain and suffer mortal injuries."

Kathy and her brother Bubba, 7, made several long distance swims and played in a motion picture. Kathy died last May shortly after diving from a 33-foot tower into a pool. Tongay is free in $1,000 bond.

Executive Vice President

Whether or not the political attack on his personal integrity during the campaign of 1952 gave him added incentive, Vice President Nixon has made more of a mark since last Jan. 20 than any holder of the office in this century.

As he starts on his long tour of Asia at President Eisenhower's request, Vice President Nixon bears more responsibility for helping to perform the presidential function than any of his predecessors. He is the executive vice president of the United States, not a mere figurehead.

It is interesting to note in this connection that Thomas E. Dewey had promised Earl Warren of California, his running mate on the Republican presidential ticket in 1948, that if the two governors won the election they would work as a team, Warren would be the executive director for the Cabinet, Dewey would be the president. Perhaps it was Gov. Dewey who pointed out the possibilities of this arrangement to President Eisenhower.

Something similar to it has been put into effect between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon. The latter is handling some of the numerous details of the executive function which can be delegated and should have been delegated long ago. A long-delayed step in the evolution of the presidency is being taken.

Down to Realities

Nothing has revealed in such shocking detail the realities of bad unionism as the unfolding events in the Atlantic coast longshoremen's shakeup.

Here is a key union entrenched in the shipping industry on a racketeering basis so brazen no one dares to deny the fact of its corruption.

Here is a campaign to organize a rival union by the AFL, which finally had to do something about the charter held by International Longshoremen's Association or suffer a near-fatal loss in its own claim to respectability.

Here are threats of murder and violence, police guards provided for union leaders, the shipping industry forced to sustain heavy losses and the American people obliged to pay the ultimate penalty for all the corruption which flourished in Atlantic ports under the protection of federal law and may flourish again if enough people can be lulled back to sleep.

In Atlantic ports, in Washington and in the mind of every citizen who tries to separate the good from the bad in organized labor, the longshoremen's mess is shaping up as a showdown in unionism.

There are good unions — voluntary organizations of working people for collective bargaining. And there are bad unions — involuntary organizations of working people for purposes which have no claim on tolerance in a republic.

The distinction between the two has not been made often enough or clearly enough in the last 20 years.

Beyond Oct. 1

There can be no immediate quarrel with Gov. Lausche's advice to law-enforcement authority to give truckers the benefit of the doubt about Ohio's new highway use tax.

All that's at stake immediately is the purchase of a highway use permit. This must be obtained by "every person who is the owner of a commercial car with three or more axles or a commercial car which is to be operated as part of a commercial tandem or a commercial tractor which is operated or driven upon a public highway."

The deadline was Oct. 1. In future years the deadline will be April.

The use permit that Ohio will issue to truckers shows the number of axles on which they are to pay the state the rates specified in the law passed by the legislature this year. The permit must be reissued each year before April 1.

Truckers are to do their own bookkeeping on use-tax payments.

Payments are to be made on or before Jan. 20, April 20, July 20 and Oct. 20 each year. It is admittedly a complex law, both as to interpretation and payments. Furthermore, it is still a new law. Many truckers, especially independent operators, have had no chance to learn its provisions.

This is undoubtedly why Gov. Lausche advises patience. It is why Ohioans will be patient with truckers who need more time to learn the ropes. But there is a limit to patience. The law went into effect last July. Truckers were given until Oct. 1 to learn what the law provided.

It was a hard-fought issue in the 100th General Assembly. The public will be quick to resent any hint that the truckers who fought it there as a legislative issue may have it in mind to gum up its enforcement on the highways by noncompliance with its provisions.

Functions of Courts

By David Lawrence

Bench Must Shun All Political Pressures

Earl Warren, former governor of California, is now chief justice of the United States, which means—or ought to mean—that he is out of politics and out of the political arena where a count of the influences of pressure groups or a count of noses in a legislative body brings decisions on national policy.

Yet already predictions are coming from groups of wishful thinkers that the new member of the Supreme Court will vote to reverse the court's position on civil liberties and give a wider rein to the promoters of Communist imperialism inside America.

Too many people in America in the last 2 years, who talk about "flexibility" through judicial decision, have been indoctrinated with the notion that the Supreme Court of the United States is just another legislative body.

Too many people have been influenced by Franklin D. Roosevelt to believe that it's too much trouble to amend the Constitution in the manner provided in the document itself and that the nine justices are endowed with a mandate to change the Constitution in accordance with the views of changing administrations or pressure groups.

If the American people really want to amend the constitution and a substantial majority favors it, the process has proved in the past to be relatively rapid.

More harm has been done by the alleged witticism that "The Supreme Court follows the election returns" than by any other single fallacy about a lack of independence in the judiciary unless perhaps it is the frequent misuse of a quotation uttered once by Charles Evans Hughes and repeatedly taken out of context.

That quotation, distorted and misrepresented again and again, even by Franklin Roosevelt, was as follows: "The Constitution is what the judges says it is."

It was never uttered by Hughes while he was on the bench but during an extemporaneous speech while he was governor of New York State.

Placed in its proper context, the quotation merely meant that he felt it was the primary duty of the Supreme Court justices to interpret the Constitution and that they were too busy doing this to be required to decide public-utility cases of an administrative nature.

Hughes, when he was chief justice, bitterly resented the misuse of that quotation by Mr. Roosevelt and told this correspondent it was used out of context.

Later on, in his diary notes—which Merlo J. Pusey, in his splendid biography of the chief justice, published in 1951—Hughes wrote about that quotation as follows:

"The inference that I was picturing constitutional interpretation by the courts as a matter of judicial caprice. . . was farthest from my thought.

"I was not talking flippantly or in disrespect of the courts, but on the contrary with the most profound respect.

"I was speaking of the essential function of the courts under our system in interpreting and applying constitutional safeguards, and I was emphasizing the importance of maintaining the courts in the highest public esteem as our final judicial arbiters and the inadvisability of needlessly exposing them to criticism and disrespect by throwing upon them the burden of dealing with purely administrative questions."

A rereading of the text of his famous Elmira, N. Y., speech, reprinted in the Pusey biography, confirms the above exposition of Hughes' thought. But the words will doubtless be quoted again and again to support the thesis of a certain school of thought which mistakenly holds that after all there are nine votes on the Supreme Court and that decisions are made by reason of political predilections or ideological prejudices.

There may be some men who have been on the bench and decided questions that way, but the American people sincerely hope that Earl Warren will not be one of them and that he will be guided by his conscience and not by legislative or political impulses.

The Supreme Court again and again has said that it is not the duty of the court to revise existing laws or make new laws, that the remedy for bad laws is to be found at the ballot box and that the best way to amend the Constitution is by the means provided in the Constitution itself.

In the Big Dough!

By TRUMAN TWILL

This goes back a few years to the original premise on which this department was founded — that newspaper readers had more important things on their minds than politics and mussolini.

I have been thinking about this in connection with some current events. The premise is as sound as it ever was—sounder, because now it has been confirmed. Newspaper readers do have more important things on their minds than politics and arm-twisters.

Wars come and go. Momentous issues flare up and die out. Vivid personalities flash in the sky and whip their comet-tails of publicity behind them as they fade into dull oblivion.

The grass covers the scars made on the good earth by men in their unreasoning anger. The foam-flecked lips of demagogs and semi-gods finally fall slack and silent. All the movements are going to ruin or redeem mankind appear and disappear, leaving scarcely any trace. The air is filled with an endless barrage of incantation, incitations and exclamations. But it also is filled with the music of the wind, if you listen.

Beneath it all at the level of humility where masses of people live and tolerate the affronts to their dignity which are forthcoming in endless supply from those who hold the commonplace in contempt, life goes on as usual.

Lovers clasp hands in springtime and walk side by side during summer. There is thanksgiving in harvest season and faith in winter.

Infinite satisfaction is drawn from trifles. Families enjoy their mastery of the art of living together in mutual respect. The core of whatever civilization has been achieved is hidden away beneath external appearances which deceive careless viewers into believing there is nothing beyond these externalities—nothing.

But everything's there—beneath the externalities I know. An observation made here about bread now has produced the second loaf of home-made bread to prove that this fundamental art is being preserved in family living.

The first loaf was baked by a lady who is an executive secretary in an international organization—a lady who lives in an apartment and has no family yet bakes one of the finest loaves of bread ever lathered heavily with apple butter and consumed with gusto.

The second loaf was baked by a lady generally conceded by other ladies to be what their husbands universally acclaim her to be—the most gorgeous of all non-professional glamor girls north of Possum Ridge, south of the Northern Lights, east of Little Kettle Valley and west of Old Trail.

She, too, bakes one of the finest loaves of bread ever lathered etc. It has taken a long time for this column, founded on the premise that there are more important things than politics and head-busting, to get into the big dough. But with the help of the Pillsbury and Fleischmann families, it has been done.

And tax-free too! With crust to spare and no tell-tale wrappers.

Leisure Hours in Denmark

By Richard L. Thomas

COPENHAGEN

Sports are not as colorful nor as spectacular in Denmark as in the States, but they modestly pervade everyday life in a way that tends to make the casual observer underestimate their importance. Newspapers do not give sports events much coverage — one has to scan some issues closely in order to find any sports news at all—and the radio is just as unconcerned.

The primary reason for this situation is that virtually all sports are conducted on an amateur basis, and results or scores of games are not considered important news, except in cases of international competition or of outstanding local contests.

THE ORGANIZATION of sporting events is very different here than in America. Whereas in the United States, the secondary schools and colleges sponsor most of the amateur athletic contests, in Denmark neither the schools nor the universities sponsor any organized competition.

Virtually all team sports, and most individual sports as well, are carried on through athletic clubs. If one wishes to participate in a certain sport, for instance tennis, he merely joins a tennis club. He may then use the club's facilities to play any of the other members and to participate in matches with other tennis clubs.

Soccer is the favorite team sport in Denmark, as well as in the other Scandinavian countries. Every park and playground has a soccer field that is generally in use. Each Sunday afternoon from March through June and from August through December selected teams of Danish amateurs compete with each other, or with foreign professionals. Inter-Scandinavian matches, the Danish equivalent of the World Series, are traditionally held in September and in October.

SAILING, SWIMMING, fishing, crew races, and in winter, ice skating are exceptionally popular in Denmark because of the numerous bodies of water. Tennis is rapidly gaining in stature, possibly inspired to a degree by the successes of Kurt Nielsen, the Danish star. Badminton, squash and cricket are played, but not on a large scale. Since there are only two golf courses in Denmark, few can afford that luxury. Baseball is only an American legend, football is unknown, and basketball is of negligible importance.

Cycling must be placed in a special category, because it is a sport on weekends and a utility during the week. The Danes are the world's greatest cycling enthusiasts. Automobiles in Denmark can be afforded only by the wealthy (a standard Chevrolet costs 40,000 kroner or $5,700); the rest of the population must choose between a car or a house with the customary small garden. Ninety-five per cent choose the house and garden, and rely on bicycles for their transportation.

It is not unusual to see very dignified men with white shirts, suits, ties and felt hats, riding happily to and from the office. Visitors are continually amazed at the strange and cumbersome articles that Danes manage to transport on their two-wheelers.

Dogs of varying sizes are carried in baskets suspended from the handlebars; sometimes chairs and other household goods are balanced on the back fender, and it is a marvel to foreigners how a man can whiz merrily through rush-hour traffic carrying a large floor carpet and a stepladder! And rush-hour traffic in Copenhagen is terrific.

It is estimated that every weekday between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. approximately 30,000 bicycles pass over one of the main bridges in the city.

ON WEEKENDS the bicycles are used for pleasure. In the summertime especially, a large part of Copenhagen's population cycles to the country for camping and picnics or merely for fresh air and exercise.

A common sight is a family of five riding down the avenue, with mother and dad each carrying a youngster in a special seat built onto the handlebars or rear fender, and junior following proudly on his own new bicycle.

But the Danes do not spend all their leisure hours out-of-doors. They are, as a whole, fond of the theater, classical music and reading.

The Royal Theater in Copenhagen is the largest and most famous theater in Denmark. This outstanding institution features ballet, opera and plays of the world's greatest authors. It has its own opera company, dancers, actors and orchestra, and is equipped with two large stages. A typical evening might find George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion being produced on one stage, and Verdi's opera Aida being presented on the other.

Perhaps the most admirable aspect of the theater is that the tickets are reasonable enough so that any citizen can afford to attend. Prices range from three kroner (one kroner equals 15 cents) to 10 kroner. It is an unusual occurrence when the theater is not filled to capacity.

IN ADDITION to the Royal Theater, there are several other smaller theaters in Copenhagen where professional casts present various types of plays. And the movies in Copenhagen are extremely well attended. Most of the films are foreign, primarily American, British, and Swedish, with Danish captions under the pictures. Contrary to the practice in the States, here all seats are reserved, and movies are never continuous.

The Danish Symphony Orchestra is the pride of the classical music devotees. This excellent orchestra gives concerts every Thursday over the state radio, and at other special occasions. Tickets for the Thursday concerts are so much in demand that they are placed on sale only at the auditorium at 8 o'clock every Monday morning, thus insuring, so they say, everyone an equal chance of attending. My assertion that the Danes are fond of classical music is fortified by a personal experience.

Two weeks ago, Eugene Ormandy was here to guest-conduct the orchestra in Mozart's Jupiter Symphony and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. A friend and I decided to get tickets. We arrived at the auditorium by 7 o'clock, but by then the line was already over a block long. After waiting for two hours in the raw Danish morning, the tickets were sold out when we were within 10 feet of the window, and at least 300 persons were still behind us. This Monday morning line is the rule, not the exception!

IN SPITE OF all these attractions, the Danes are one of the most well-read peoples on earth. (Television has not made an inroad here. There are only 63 sets in Denmark, and only three hours of programs per week.) A good indication of the amount of time people spend reading is the number of bookstores in business.

Denmark, with a population of slightly over four million, or less than half the size of New York City, has 650 full-fledged book stores, plus a good library system. The United States, with one hundred and sixty million people, has only 1,450 book stores! At last count, there were only two illiterate people in Denmark.

Richard L. Thomas of Marion is a Fulbright scholarship student at the Foreign Graduate School of University of Copenhagen. His experiences and observations will appear in this space from time to time.

Sounds a Bit Fishy

By MARK DANA

Evidently scientists of particular piscatorial interest living in Western Berlin haven't much to probe into these days, outside of politics (which of course is all wet), so they are experimenting with fish and have discovered that fish can talk.

This may not come under the head of world-shaking revelation at the moment, and it may not even be new. Many a fisherman has suspected members of the finny tribe of passing the word on to their watery comrades to avoid a certain fat worm or bright-hued cylinder of wood.

The German scientists, however, have used powerful microphones to record on tape what seems to be fish conversation. It can be hoped for the sake of scientific progress that the dialogues thus taken down imperishably are more weighty than most chatter between humans. Apparently fish make vibrations in the water to talk, maybe with their fins or scales or tails, and of course vibrations in the water are as good as air vibrations topside which mortal men can discern.

The German scientists do not contend that their fish speak German, and that catfish in the Mississppi River, for instance, speak only English with a southern accent. Nor do they insist that when goldfish open and close their mouths in a glass bowl they are discussing the trips they hope to make some day.

Scientists don't speculate so specifically; if they can prove to a world more than half indifferent on the subject that fish can talk, their keyhole snooping and wiretapping have gone far enough, it seems. The whole business, to be sure, can be put in the F. and F. drawer—File and Forget.

Science-studying youngsters are much more concerned about what language is spoken in the space world, say on the moon. School courses in that language may be in some curriculum some day.

Prayer for Prayer Week

("This is Prayer Week in the United States. President Eisenhower has proclaimed it so by indorsement and declared it of the utmost importance to our civilization that the prayer in the home be restored fully."—News item)

Help us to realize, oh Lord, that the world today takes a heap of praying, that the maker of the superficial, half-hearted, routine prayer just isn't trying. May we be intelligent enough to know that it is later than we think and that we are less convincing on our knees than we believe.

Give us the common sense to realize that while button-pressings, dial-twistings and electric lever-switchings will give us the short cut and the swift result in nearly all activities of modern civilization, there is no such whirlwind approach to the Creator. May we in this terrifying age know that devotion on-the-turn and prayer tailored-to-a-time-clock are not enough.

May the face of Barbarism leering at the world, as it did in the dark ages, stir in us the profound faith of our forefathers; may the spectacle of a pleasure-mad civilization ignoring the eternal truths, scorning the old virtues and sneering at ancient concepts jar us out of indifference, resignation and the "What can I do?" mood.

May crime, loose conduct, pagan routines, sleazy patterns, the free ride, the gravy train and the life-by-jackpot phases of the American scene outrage us as they would have outraged our fathers, our mothers and the ancestors who went to distant chapel the hard way and wouldn't have felt they were extending themselves if they couldn't make it in a new super-eight.

Oh Lord, may we cease taking the daily chronicllings of depravity among our children with a mere shrug and a hope that things are not what they seem. May the symbol of Washington on his knees in the woods in a dark hour sustain the young as it once did.

Help us to see prayer as a ringing, singing thing and always know that without true depths of sincerity it can be a mockery and a sham.

So sharpen our nature that we may attribute the beauty of the dawn, the wonder of the day and the glory of the sunset to Thy hand, and feel a depth of gratitude for every hour without mishap, misfortune, sorrow and pain.

May we know that prayer without thought, meditation and fervor is like a phone call over a dead wire, and that he who prays selfishly is like a man talking to himself.

Help us to realize that if we have no time for prayer we are a poor judge of relative importance, ultimate goals and immediate needs.

Aid us in understanding that a home without family prayer is a fireplace without a glow, a room without warmth and a life without radiance.

Give us the wisdom fully to understand that the world is close to destruction through a disregard for all the higher concepts of all religions; that mere lip service to the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount is largely responsible for the horrifying waves of crime, disorder, tawdry routines of living, the debasement of the kids in our own land and the spreading hatreds.

Above all, give us freedom from hypocrisy, lukewarmness and the casual attitude in matters of faith. How shabby, shifty and unworthy must man look in Thy sight, even when giving him all the benefits of the doubt!

May we know as never before that man in his current plight will take a lot of praying for, that every prayer helps, that his own prayer is needed, and that he had better make it good. Amen.

'Build a Better Mousetrap'

Casino Operator's Formula Pays Off

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilbur Clark, who wears a $5,000 wrist watch, is a fine example of how a man can win the success he wants in life if he just sticks to a simple principle.

The principle Wilbur chose was the old copybook maxim that if you build a better mousetrap, even in the wilderness, the world will beat a path to your doorway.

But of course you have to interpret those old copybook rules the right way to make them work. Wilbur decided the better mousetrap was one a mouse would want to get caught in—but people with loaded pockets would fight to enter.

And has it paid off? Listen to Wilbur:

"I guess we're the biggest single operation in the state now. Our expenses alone run $125,000 a day. We netted better than one million dollars last year. We have 650 employes, 250 more people than live in my old home town."

Wilbur a friendly, greying, 42-year-old. . .uh, well . .industrialist, not only has a $5,000 wrist watch and runs one of the world's plushiest mousetraps. Life has given him other rewards. He is a mayor, the vice president of his local chamber of commerce, and has been named one of the nation's 10 best-dressed men He helps design his own $250 suits, won't allow a buttonhole in his lapels.

"Why punch a hole in a good piece of cloth if you don't like wearing flowers?" he asked reasonably, waving a hand on which a five-karat diamond ring shone with the subdued charm of a locomotive headlight.

Clark's career follows the classic Horace Greeley pattern, "Go west, young man." He left his native Keyesport, Ill., pawned his high school ring for $4 in Los Angeles, and worked as a bus boy and bell hop in San Diego before obtaining a job in a gambling establishment.

From then on his rise was more rapid Wilbur saved his pennies, worked for a number of gambling houses about the country, bought some of his own, went broke and started over again. Wilbur, who has no taste for a pool room atmosphere, all the time was dreaming of his better mousetrap, a luxurious resort casino such as those in Europe, where a man could bet a buck without getting his foot caught in a cuspidor or having to look both ways for the cops.

Today Wilbur's dream of a better mousetrap has come true—the fabulous Desert Inn at Las Vegas, which makes Monte Carlo look as modish as a 1900 bustle.

At Wilbur's gilded 4½ million dollar inn the weary, wayworn traveler may rent a room for from $5 to $50 a day, play golf on a million dollar 18-hole grass course in the desert, and for $5.50 eat a steak dinner and see a floor show that would cost him to $50 or more in New York. The same traveler can slake his thirst 24 hours a day—or invest anything from a nickel to $1,000 (that's the limit) around the clock in the Casino.

The Casino has 90 slot machines, three roulette wheels, six blackjack tables, five crap tables. Their winnings, of course, subsidize the floor shows, which feature such name stars as Betty Hutton or Herb Shriner and cost up to $35,000 a week, half the price of putting on a Broadway show.

"You can't stop people from gambling," said Wilbur, which may explain why he wisely refrained from putting locks on the Casino doors. "But a guest could stay here for a week and never make a laydown, and we wouldn't know it. Whether he goes into the Casino is up to him.

"I believe if you give people what they want, and most people want the best, they'll come to you. We turn away 200 people a day."

Clark has a list of 40,000 guests from all parts of the world, feels he knows 30,000 of them himself, and they range "from a Chinese general and a federal judge on up." His customers aren't the kind who go broke, and his only trouble is a bum check now and then. But his bad check losses probably aren't more than $150,000 or so a year. Chickenfeed.

Wilbur wears no jewelry beside his $5,000 watch, his ring, and platinum cufflinks in the shape of a pair of dice studded with 20 rubies and 80 diamonds. He is basically a man of simple tastes. He designed the watch himself, and has to take it off 50 times a day to show to curious guests. It is made of solid platinum with his initials in diamonds and a ruby here and there to keep the eye from going snowblind from the platinum.

"It keeps good time," said Wilbur. But when I looked at it his $5,000 watch said 11.26, and an automatically synchronized clock on the office wall said 11.28.

His watch might be two minutes late. But nobody could accuse Wilbur of being behind the times.

Galion Residents Wed In Double Ring Service

The reception for approximately 125 guests was held in the church parlors.

The former Miss Logan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Logan. Both she and her husband were graduated from Galion High School in 1953. Jehovah's Witness Pastor Allowed To Perform Marriages

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Jehovah's Witness minister today won the right to perform marriages in Ohio.

The Ohio Sureme Court ordered Probate Judge F Hulen O'Brien of Meigs County to issue a license authorizing Jesse C Hayes of Pomeroy to solemnize marriages.

Hayes brought a mandamus action against Judge O'Brien after he said the jurist refused his request for a license on Nov. 3, 1950, and turned down subsequent requests. Hayes termed the judge's action arbitrary and an abuse of discretion.

The court held that Hayes, "having produced credentials of his being a regularly ordained minister of a religious society to the probate judge," is entitled under Ohio law to a license to solemnize marriages.

Fall, Winter Outlook

Views Differ Over Extent Of Upswing in Business

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Some say business gets into its stride after Labor Day. Some say after the World Series.

Having survived a wide split over the merits of the Yankees and the Dodgers, Americans can turn today to the next big question: How much of a stride forward, if any, will industrial production take? And how good will Christmas trade be this year?

You can get odds either way, depending on which expert you ask.

Some say factory output will start zooming again after the prolonged summer lull and by year's end be about as good as ever. If so, job totals will stay near their peak and, therefore, Americans with money in their jeans will be big-hearted spenders. Many merchants look for their biggest Christmas trade ever.

Others note that so far the fall pickup in factory output isn't as big as expected, and that retail trade was at least two weeks late in getting off the ground.

"Don't go predicting yourselves into a slump," many business and governmental spokesmen are warning. "Don't get pushed off base by a little drop here and there in some one factor in the economy."

They contend too much singing of the blues might scare the customers away from the stores, and might cause businessmen to start living off their inventory fat and to stop ordering from the factories.

"Noting soft spots in the economy and getting ready for them has quite the opposite effect," others counter. "Business caution sometimes prevents slumps, always makes them smaller. The real danger would be in playing ostrich."

And those who favor wide-eyed caution point out that traditionally store sales don't slump until several months after industrial production as started letting down. People go on for some time buying as usual, even if their pay checks shrink some as the work week contracts. They hate to cut their standard of living until their savings run low.

With personal incomes at or near record highs, merchants would seem to have little to fear for the next three months.

Another factor that has perked up business thinking recently is the new attitude which business reads into Washington's policies.

Earlier in the year businessmen felt Washington favored a mild and controlled deflation, tight credit and a hard dollar (which means lower prices). The idea was to brake the boom before it got out of hand, to hike interest rates, to balance the budget.

But after the industrial pace slacked a little, steps to ease credit and provide more money for banks to lend have resulted in a drop in interest rates. With loans easier to get, industry is encouraged to borrow both for expansion and for carrying on production and trade.

Washington is promising to try to keep farm product prices from falling too far.

Voices in Washington have been stressing that steps will be taken to halt deflation before it goes far, or even gets under way.

IKE WARNS OF H-BOMB DANGERS. President Eisenhower acknowledges applause of several thousand women, members of the United Church Women of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U S A., convened in Atlantic City, N J. He warned a divided world to put the atom to constructive use, or risk H-bomb suicide with "erasure of cities, windrows of unidentifiable dead." At right, joining in applause, is Mrs. James D. Wyker, Columbia, Mo., president of the United Church Women.

One Major Aspect Still Unclear

Ike's Tax Program Shapes Up Slowly

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
(for JAMES MARLOW)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bit by bit the Eisenhower administration plan for wrestling with its gigantic tax problem is taking shape in all major aspects except one.

The White House has made it crystal clear that:

1. Barring unexpected emergencies, an average 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes will take effect as scheduled next Jan. 1.

2. The excess profits tax on corporations will expire completely on Jan. 1, also as scheduled.

Another point seems almost as certain. The administration probably will stand pat on its request to keep regular corporation income taxes at the present rate of 52 per cent. This levy now is scheduled to drop to 47 per cent next April 1.

So, unless there is a request to increase normal corporation taxes, any maneuvering to meet whatever spending budget the administration comes up with is in the field of excise or sales taxes.

This is the area where the tax spotlight is likely to focus in the months ahead.

President Eisenhower has sought to eliminate a national retail sales tax from the picture.

That leaves two broad courses of action:

1. A juggling of the present system of varying excise taxes, possibly to cover items not now taxed.

2. A uniform national sales tax at the manufacturers' level.

It's too early to tell which way the administration will swing. The answer may hinge on the greater revenue yield from a general manufacturers' sales tax, stacked against a hostile reaction in Congress to such a proposal.

Or, on the other hand, the goal of a balanced budget could be sacrificed for the present.

At any rate, congressional tax authorities estimate that one to three billions in revenue could be raised by refiguring selective sales taxes. The trend would be toward a more universal and uniform tax, but the trend under this proposal would stop short of a blanket sales tax.

Present rates include 20 per cent on the retail price of ewelry, furs, luggage, women's handbags, and cosmetics; 10 per cent at the manufacturers' level on autos, electric and gas stoves, refrigerators, dishwashers, television sets, radios and some smaller appliances; 15 per cent on manufacturers' sales of sporting goods; 20 per cent on manufacturers' sales of cameras and film.

Some of these rates are scheduled to drop on April 1, but that issue is likely to be lost in the broad excise tax revision program already forecast by Eisenhower.

Some of the 10 per cent rates, for example, could be raised to 15 per cent to help boost revenue and bring more uniformity. And a few of the more painful 20 per cent rates might be lowered.

But more important, tax writers could cast their eyes toward many items not now covered. Some of the more plausible possibilities, for example, might be furniture, rugs, linens, hotel and tourist court bills, laundry services, barber shops and beauty parlors, candy, soft drinks and clothes washers.

Authorities estimate a 10 per cent tax on these new items, plus increases in some present excises, could produce 1½ to 2 billion dollars annually. A 15 per cent rate, considered less likely, might bring in 2 to 3 billion.

On the other hand, possibilities are less limited under a flat, general manufacturers' sales tax.

The existing retail and manufacturers' taxes mentioned above, which would be replaced under a general manufacturers' sales tax, now bring in about $3,300,000,000 annually.

To produce the same amount of revenue, the uniform manufacturers' tax would have to be about 4½ per cent. At 7 per cent, the uniform tax would raise an additional two billion dollars. And at 10 per cent, it would boost revenue by about $4,200,000,000.

British Troops Being Rushed To West Indies

Britain Moves To Halt 'Communist Intrigues' In Guiana Government

LONDON (AP)—Britain readied her second largest aircraft carrier, the 3,000-ton Implacable, today to rush reinforcements to the West Indies. Government spokesman said the troops would protect British Guiana against "Communist intrigues."

Three other warships—the 8,000-ton cruiser Superb and the 1,600-ton frigates Bigbury Bay and Burghead Bay I already were steaming at full speed carrying troops to the troubled colony on the northeast shoulder of South America. The 9,100-ton cruiser Sheffield sailed from Scotland yesterday for the West Indies.

Red Plot Afoot

In its announcement last night, the Colonial Office said a Red plot possibly aimed at setting up a Communist-dominated state was afoot in the colony.

"This would lead to bloodshed," the statement warned. It added: "In view of the latest developments, Her Majesty's government felt it necessary to send naval and military forces to Georgetown (the colony's capital) with the utmost dispatch in order to preserve peace and the safety of all classes."

The statement broke a five-day official silence on events in British Guiana, where the majority People's Progressive party (PPP) is pressing for greater independence. The British governor, Sir Alfred Savage, reportedly is considering the dismissal of some of his left-wing ministers.

Named Ringleader

A Colonial Office spokesman told newsmen that the Communist movement in British Guiana is run by the U. S.-born wife of Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan, the former Janet Rosenberg. She is the executive secretary of the PPP.

Both Jagan and his wife, however, have denied they are Communists. They met while Jagan was studying dentistry in Chicago and she was a student at the Cook County Hospital School of Nursing. School records listed her home as Detroit, Mich.

Reports from Georgetown indicated the colony was tense but quiet. The Executive Council held its usual weekly meeting in Georgetown yesterday with Gov. Savage presiding. Jagan was among the ministers attending.

British Guiana's troubles have been brewing since Last April when the PPP won a sweeping victory in the first election under the new constitution.

The party has demanded constitutional amendments to make almost all places in the colony's legislative and executive bodies elective by removing most of Britain's appointive representatives from the Legislature and Executive Council (cabinet).

Labor Group Opposes Changing School Name

Members of Marion Local Union No. 750, UAW-CIO, of the Universal Cooler, voted unanimously against changing the name of State Street Junior High School to Robert A. Taft Junior High School at a meeting Monday night in the union hall on S. Main St. A letter concerning the action has been sent to the board of education. William Darnell is president of the union.

Present for the meeting were the architects for the planned new union hall, Robert Edwards and James Burris of Marion. They presented plans for the new hall, giving a detailed explanation of them, voted approval for the building committee to proceed with plans. The hall is to be built for an approximate cost of $90,000 and will located on Leader St.

Youths Here Well Served by Four Chest Agencies

THESE ARE ONLY a few of the youth activities which donations to the United Appeals campaign help to support. The annual fund raising drive begins Monday. Goal this year is $170,461.

UPPER RIGHT: Members of local Girl Scout Troop 33 examine the new handbook which was just received this week.

LOWER LEFT: Boy Scouts from Troop 4 put the finishing touches on a bird house buidling project.

LOWER RIGHT: These are some of the youngsters who participated in the Salvation Army's summer camp program this year.

points of their lives. This year 179 children were sent to camp.

Other activities for the youths conducted by the Salvation Army included sponsorship of Boy Scout, Cub Scout and Explorer troops, children's meetings after school hours, Bible study classes and band instructions.

THE SALVATION ARMY devotes a major portion of its effort to the older residents of the community and to the unfortunate. It sponsors a Golden Age Club where the old timers can get together for fun and enjoyment; extends a helping hand to the down - and - outers; provides Christmas baskets for the needy and men and women in institutions.

It also sends members out to the prisons to conduct religious services for the inmates. In addtion, the Salvation Army conducts a Women's Home League. Here women gather to sew articles of clothing for the needy. It gives the women an opportunity to acquire the art of sewing and also helps the less fortunate persons who need clothes.

THE YMCA, like the Salvation Army, provides a program for both young people and adults.

Now located in a brand new building with greatly increased facilities, the YMCA offers a host of activities which may be enjoyed by all in the community. There are arts and craft classes for the youths, gymnasium and swimming facilities for both young and old, exercise rooms for those who need a good workout, social clubs for boys and girls, educational courses, lifesaving classes, movies, and photography courses to mention only a few of the 58 different activities sponsored by the YMCA.

A MAJOR EMPHASIS in the Boy and Girl Scout organizations is placed on outdoor living—camping trips, hikes, nature study and the like. Both teach fair play, good sportsmanship, resourcefulness, craft skills, love of God and nature, leadership, and many other virtues.

Scout troops are operated by churches, PTA's, fraternal and veterans groups. Volunteers guide the boys and girls, aided by professionally-trained Scout leaders.

During the fiscal year 1951-52, there were 1,797 boys in the county participating in the Boy Scout program.

Of these, 384 attended the long-term council camp, at an average cost of $1.86 per day per boy. The operating cost for one boy that year was $18.52.

Girl Scouts in Marion numbered 697. Of these, 89 went to the summer camp which was open eight days. The cost for each girl for the season was $3 79.

—:—

MONEY FROM the United Appeals funds helps these four organizations continue to maintain operations.

This year's budget appropriates $20,722 for the work of the Salvation Army. A total of $33,810 is scheduled to be given to the YMCA, $17,145 to the Boy Scouts, and $13,071 to the Girl Scouts.

The total for the four groups is $84,748. This is out of the goal set for the entire campaign, $170,461.

Marion Firemen Make 4 Runs; Boy, 5, Turns In False Alarm

Marion firemen were called out four times yesterday, once by a false alarm turned in by a five-year old boy, and once on an inhalator call.

The false alarm came in at 10.31 a.m. yesterday when the boy playing with a football in a vacant lot at Toledo Ave. and Meadow St. spied the alarm box and apparently decided to find out what was insie.

He broke out the glass, turned the key, opened the door and pulled the alarm lever, then evidently frightened by a bell ringing inside the alarm, ran off toward home across the vacant lot, an onlooker later reported to firemen before leaving scene. He warned this rule applies to persons burning leaves in the streets also.

The inhalator call was to 872 Kenton Ave. at 6:53 p.m. last night where Charles Brooks of 127 Cayuga St. was suffering from an asthma attack. He had recovered when firemen arrived and the inhalabor was not used.

No damage was reported in either of the fire runs, but Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt issued a warning as a result of one of them.

Firemen from the Central Station were called to E. Church St. and Reed Ave. at 6 40 p.m. yesterday when residents in the area became alarmed over a large bonfire in the yard of the abandoned Forest Lawn School. Chief Sifritt said workmen razing the old building apparently had piled up trash to burn it at the end of the day and had gone away without putting the fire out. Later some boys in the neighborhood started piling more trash on the fire until the fire department was called to put it out.

As a result Chief Sifritt warned all fires outside in trash burners or open bonfires must be put out before leaving scene. He warned this rule applies to persons burning leaves in the streets also.

Only other fire run was to 233 W. Church St. at 2:32 p.m. yesterday when Clifford Primmer of 332 Olney Ave. smelled smoke in his car and thought it on fire. Firemen said the smoke caused by the emergency brakes locked in the braking position which became overheated. There was no damage reported.

Wilson

Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said Wilson's statement was cheering to them since it confirmed their own beliefs in the matter.

"I have always doubted that the Russians were capable of doing some of the things people said they can do," Ellender said in an interview.

Johnston said it has been his belief that the Soviets haven't developed nuclear energy "to an appreciable point."

"Knowing the Russian people, I doubt they would be talking about it if they really had it," he observed.

There was some speculation that Eisenhower's recital of the bombing threat to America was the forerunner of a boost in U. S striking power against an enemy.

If the President's words don't mean that, Sen. Kilgore (D-WVa) said, Eisenhower is being "unrealistic" in calling on the free world to "build, maintain and pay for a military might asuring us reasonable safety from attack."

"It is unrealistic to talk about secure defenses and then cut back our Air Force," Kilgore said. 'Until we give the Air Force the major role in our military setup, we won't be doing everything possible."

Wilson said he thought American atomic weapons development was "about three years ahead of Russian developments,' and he added: "In other words, it would be perhaps three years before they have a reasonable number of bombs and airplanes that could deliver them. . . . The Russians are certainly not going to deliver one bomb with one plane and have nothing to back it up."

At another point, in a summary which he recorded for broadcast after the news conference, Wilson declared, "There is no reason why Americans should be panicky over the fact that the Russians do have the H-bomb although of course it does present a continuing problem that must be realistically recognized."

He didn't explain how this reference to the "fact the Russians do have the H-bomb" related to his earlier comment about stretching it a bit" when people talked about the Reds having a bomb ready to drop.

Expenditures Questioned

Reporters wanted to know what was being done about any Soviet H-bomb menace. Would expenditures on continental defense, for radar warning and fighter planes, climb two billion dollars in the next year?

No, Wilson said, he thought it might be 'something in the order of 500 million' or a little more. He maintained that already "we do have a considerable continental defense including a radar system and fighter and interceptor planes; the problem is to what degree it can be improved with the help and cooperation particularly of our Canadian friends."

Wilson said the "biggest deterrent to war is the probable realization for the enemy that the way could be very tough and they probably couldn't win."

Man Fined, Jailed on Drunk Driving Charge

George Benner Neighborgall, 50, of 403 Mound St. was sentenced to five days in the Marion County jail, fined $100 and costs and his driver's license was suspended at his hearing in Municipal Court today on a drunken driving charge.

Arrested at 10:37 p.m. last night on W. Center St., Neighborgall pleaded guilty to the charge.

Three other motorists were fined a total of $45 and costs on other traffic charges today.

James T. Walker, 56, of Columbus was fined $15 and costs on a charge of passing in a no-passing zone on N. Main St. Gerald Wisebaker of 570 E. Mark St. and Rex. E. Rogers of 364 S. State St. were issued citations yesterday on charges of driving the wrong way on a one-way street and were each fined $15 and costs on their pleas of guilty. Both were stopped on the one-way portion of Gurley Ave. between S. Main and S. State St.

Pact

urgently trying to find new ways to remove points of friction with the Soviet government in this hydrogen bomb age.

But Dulles emphasized that as anxious as the United States is to find ways of living with Russia, it is not interested in making meaningless agreements and is not considering any kind of aggression assurance other than one concerned with Germany — with guarantees regarding Korea and Austria as future possibilities if the Kremlin shows any interest.

Dulles thus undertook to deflate talk of some general nonagression pact or system about which there has been speculation here and abroad in recent weeks.

He said that the United States and its allies are members of the United Nations and that the U. N. Charter, with its renunciation of the use of force, makes the best possible nonagression treaty.

But, Dulles added, the defeated World War II power, Germany is not a member of the United Nations and so it was thought that some means might be found to cover Germany by guarantees similar to those of the U. N Charter. He said there has been no conclusions on the means.

The situation which gives point to the international talks on this problem is this: After months of delay, France is expected to ratify by early next year a treaty establishing a six-nation European Defense Community (EDC). West Germany, which is not a member of the North Atlantic Alliance, would be a member of EDC and would be rearmed. EDC would be tightly linked with the North Atlantic Alliance.

Russia thus is confronted with the prospect of seeing West Germany return to military strength as a part of an anti-Communist alliance committed to the defense of Western Europe.

May Have Appeal

To the extent that the Kremlin actually fears a revival of military power in Germany, some kind of treaty guarantees against the use of that power for a new agression in future years might have an appeal to the Soviets.

Dulles said both the Russian people and the French people were entitled to reassurance of this kind and that the German people wanted to give it. He thus suggested a receptive attitude in Europe toward providing guarantees.

Another side of the story, however, was suggested by President Eisenhower's speech yesterday at Atlantic City, N. J. He said Russia is bent upon world domination. The North Atlantic alliance and the proposed European Defense Community were developed specifically to defeat such a Russian purpose.

A rearmed West Germany thus would presumably be viewed by the Kremlin as a threat to Russia's aggressive designs. To the extent that this may be true, the directors of Soviet communism would find little of real interest in pledges of Germany's future good behavoir.

FREED AFTER QUESTIONING

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police last night released an unnamed man from near Greensburg, Pa., after questioning him in connection with the recent Pennsylvania Turnpike murders. The man was freed after a lie detector test convinced police he had no knowledge of the slayings.

Six Children Die In Vermont Fire

MARLBORO, Vt. (AP) — Six children perished last night in a fire that wiped out the family's two-room home, into which they had moved only yesterday.

Two other children were rescued by a baby sitter.

Ohio Police Chief Attempts To Link Assaults on Coeds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio police chief says he is attempting to link the attempted rape of an Earlham College coed to similar attacks on students at two Southwestern Ohio colleges.

Oscar Decker, police chief at Oxford, Ohio, 25 miles southeast of Richmond, was here yesterday for conferences with authorities investigating the attack on the Earlham coed.

The 19-year-old daughter of a prominent Akron, Ohio, physician was the victim of the rape attempt here Sunday night. She was taken from the campus, brutally beaten during a five-mile ride, stripped nearly nude and dumped out on the campus.

Her name was withheld by the police and the college.

Her condition was reported as fair today in Reid Memorial Hospital here. She said she talked the man out of raping her. She described him as well-dressed and apparently well-educated.

Decker said her description fitted that of the man who attacked a 21-year-old Antioch College girl last July 8 at Yellow Springs, Ohio, and the man who raped a 21-year-old Miami University Graduate student at Oxford last Aug. 5.

Yellow Springs is about 62 miles east of Richmond.

DELAWARE—The Delaware Employment Center was opened Tuesday on a four half-day, one full-day weekly schedule, brought about by meetings between Ohio officials and Delaware Chamber of Commerce and industrial representatives.

On the mornings of Monday through Friday, Mrs. Lura Meredith, interviewer, and counselor employment problems, and a Marion district office official will be on hand all day Wednesday to handle unemployment claims.

The plan was approved Monday by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation officials following three conferences. Fred B. Scherff, manager of the Marion office, said the part day plan had been approved by BUC administrator, Ernest Cornell, with the understanding that free office space would be provided in the city hall for the Employment Center.

Upper Sandusky Court Able To Slow Yankee

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Ohio has found a way to stop the New York Yankees.

One of them, at least.

Frankie Crosetti, one-time star shortstop and now third base coach for the world champion Yanks, recent winner of the World Series over the Brooklyn Dodgers, was fined $15 and costs here yesterday for speeding.

A state highway patrolman charged Crosetti, en route home to Stockton, Calif., with driving 75 miles an hour.

MISSES TARGET. Barney Thurman, former Army paratrooper now serving a prison sentence, missed his target as he jumped from an altitude of 1,500 feet during the opening of the annual Texas Prison rodeo in Huntsville, Tex. Thurman was to have landed in the arena (in front of the stands but picked a smaller target—a new automobile in the adjoining parking lot. Thurman was not injured. The car ended up with a dented roof. He'll try the jump again next week.

Hearing Slated For Extradition Of County Man

A hearing next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Common Pleas Court, in the matter of extradition proceedings initiated by Louisiana authorities for a Marion County man was scheduled by Judge Paul D. Smith at a preliminary hearing this morning.

Melvin E. Hunt, 45, of Caledonia, was apprehended by the Marion County sheriff's office Saturday at the residence of his father near Caledonia following receipt of extradition papers signed by Ohio Governor Frank J. Lausche.

Extradition proceedings were started by Louisiana authorities on the basis that Hunt fled the state following the theft of $246, the property of Seab Doyle, the warrant alleges.

Under Ohio law a person apprehended on authority of a governor's warrant cannot be turned over to the requesting state until a habeas corpus hearing has been held. Hunt was returned to the custody of Marion County Sheriff pending the legal outcome of the hearing.

The state was represented by Assistant County Prosecutor Robert O. Stout this morning, and Hunt was represented by Riley Hall.

Youth, Girl Found Dead In Car Near Greenwich

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—A youth and a girl were found dead today in a parked car near Greenwich, victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Huron County Coroner Charles Edel said the deaths were accidental. A farmer discovered the car parked in a grove of trees.

The youth was tentatively identified as Richard Oney, who lived on a farm near Greenwich. The girl was not immediately identified.

United Appeals Campaign Facts

Q. Why are there so many campaigns?

A. Frankly, as yet the givers have not fully recognized the vast economy in money, time and effort that the united campaign makes possible in our modern American community. United Appeals stands for a guarantee of this great saying: but it cannot force national agencies, or local agencies, to take advantage of the economy and "safety in giving" peculiar to United Appeals.

Cities like Mansfield, Columbus, Akron, and Detroit have already replaced the multiple drive problem by intelligent and successful federation. The movement is spreading rapidly, because it makes sense to many, and carries its own recommendation to thoughtful givers and campaign volunteers.

United Appeals stands for economy, avoidance of duplication, overlapping, and gaps in agency community services. The objector to "too many drives" should be the staunchest supporter of United Appeals—for United Appeals has now fashioned an effective and long-range community organization tool geared to bring about sanity in today's chaos of campaigns! The genius of United Appeals is that it is sensitive to the abilities of givers and to the hopes of organizations with a legitimate claim to financial support from the community to which they deliver important health and welfare services.

Drought Closes Fremont Schools

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — The drought has closed Fremont's schools for the rest of the week.

They were closed Monday, and re-opened yesterday, but Mayor Oscar Suerwalt decided to call off classes until next Monday as a water conservation measure.

The Sandusky River, source of the city's water, remained at a low level despite a light rain yesterday. Water from the Ohio Power Co. storage dam is being conserved for fire prevention purposes.

The village of Attica, in Seneca County, was making arrangements to haul water from an abandoned stone quarry at Bloomfield, eight miles to the west.

Treasury Will Borrow Soon, Nearing Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury will soon borrow an additional 1½ to 2 billion dollars, pushing the national debt as close to the 275 billion dollar legal limit as it dares approach.

This was disclosed yesterday by a Treasury spokesman, who also said the new borrowing must be out of the way by the end of this month or early November to make way for refinancing on Dec. 1 of a 10½ billion dollar maturing issue.

Just before it recessed, Congress turned down appeals by President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey to give the government more borowing leeway by raising the debt limit to 290 billion dollars. The debt subject to the legal ceiling is now $272,400,000,000.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, told reporters W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to Humphrey for debt management, is in the process of consultations with investor groups.

Burgess is probing the money markets to determine if the Treasury can move another step ahead in its program of long-term borrowing, or if money market conditions dictate that the new issue must be a short—up to 2 years—or intermediate term—2 to 10 years — security.

New Washington Limits Use of Water Supply

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—A ban on car washing and lawn sprinkling has been put into effect at nearby New Washington to conserve the village's water supply.

Members of the village board of trustees of public affairs said the action was taken as a precaution until rains add to the municipal water supply.

Village officials said that the present water supply is not dangerously low but the limitations on the use of water were ordered to prevent a possible emergency.

The ban also restricts the hauling of water from the village system to other localities. New Washinton is about 10 miles southeast of Attica, where a serious water shortage exists.

Ashley Youngster Hurt In Fall From Family Car

Special to The Star

ASHLEY—Three-year-old Joan Reely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reely of southwest of Ashley, escaped with only painful lacerations and bruises when she fell from her parents' car Sunday.

The Reelys were returning to their home after visiting at the home of Mr. Reely's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin of the Peters-Cardington Road, when the child pressed down on the handle of the rear door and was flung to the ground. The car was moving slowly and was brought to a stop quickly. The child's upper lip was cut and her face, knees and arm were badly bruised and scratched.

Counties Share In Distribution Of $2 Million

Sales Tax Revenues Allocated; Marion County Gets $9,374

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eighty-one Ohio counties shared today in a distribution of nearly two million dollars from sales tax revenues.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes said the allocations, second in less than a month, brought to $6,415,563 the total distributed for local government purposes during the fiscal year that started last July 1.

Seven counties still have a four-month share of revenues coming to them. Rhodes said payment was delayed because county auditors failed to designate how their funds will be allocated. He listed the counties as Clark, Monroe, Muskingum, Pickaway, Pike, Scioto and Washington

Six counties omitted from the September distribution received a four-month share in the current allocations. Rhodes said The counties are Montgomery, Meigs, Miami, Tuscarawas, Union and Wood

The state auditor said that except for the six counties that received checks for four months, county treasurers got the following amounts and will receive similar checks monthly until next June 30

Faster Action Necessary

PUCO Streamlines Its Rate-Making Procedure

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When the state utilities commission decided it must revamp its system to meet increased demands for its services, it leaned heavily on its chief accountant, Edward E. Knaub.

Knaub has been with the commission since World War II days and knows the commission's work backwards and forwards.

In the reorganization that followed he kept his title and duties as chief accountant and also was named departmental supervisor.

Commission Chairman Robert L. Moulton said Knaub has authority to see the commission's orders and directives are carried out.

"He is responsible to no one but the commission," said Moulton, who in these words told how the commission organized to solve bottlenecks.

"Believing confession is good for the soul, we sat down and critically analyzed our actions in an effort to find some way around the bottlenecks.

"We found several changes were needed. In trying to find out why certain procedures were followed, we got the stock answer this was the way it had been done for the last 20 years. The underlying reason had become lost somewhere along the line."

The commission devised a system that let it prepare rate cases for hearing in a matter of weeks instead of months or years.

It worked so well the commission soon found itself devoting almost all of its time to hearing cases.

"We found ourselves completely bogged down," Moulton said. "We had to find some method which would give us time to discuss and decide the pending cases which had been heard."

They found the solution in making better use of the abilities of staff members. As Moulten puts it:

"Lines of responsibility were so loosely defined and drawn that a lethargy had settled over practically all of us to the point that imagination, initiative and leadership were forgotten. The experience and technical skills at our command were being wasted."

They appointed Knaub departmental supervisor. And they decided to appoint a chief attorney examiner and let him hear all but the major rate cases. In that way, they can make decisions based on records of hearings before the chief examiner.

The commission set up an administrative board composed of the chief attorney examiner, the chief engineer, and the chief accountant.

"This board approaches its problems from the viewpoint of an attorney, an engineer and an accountant," Moulton said. "Contested rate cases are referred to it and each member submits to use a separate proposed order on each case. There is little chance that an important point will be overlooked. The chances of error have been reduced to a minimum."

The board also every morning discusses and answers all routine complaints and inquiries. It handles even personnel matters so the commission can devote more time to studying cases and developing policy.

"Knaub's duties roughly correspond to those of the executive vice president of a business corporation," Moulton said.

"He sees that the commission's orders are carried out and that policies set by the commission are followed. In doing this, the chances of any staff member shirking responsibility is reduced to a minimum.

"Knaub acts as a buffer between the commission and the staff members. What matters cannot be handled by him or the administrative board are referred to the commission for disposal."

Moulton said the administrative board and departmental supervisor have enabled the commission to dispose of a heavy backlog of cases that were heard and were awaiting decision.

Loose assignment of duties previously meant few department heads and fewer members of each department had well-defined pictures of what their duties were.

The commission now is conducting a study of every worker's duties and performance. The information will be used two ways: To reward those doing an exceptionally good job and to find those who have been shirking their responsibilities.

4-H, FFA Groups Attend Wyandot Beef Barbecue

UPPER SANDUSKY—Some 1,000 4-H and FFA boys and girls attended the Wyandot County Junior Fair beef barbecue Thursday night at Carey park.

The barbecue was sponsored by 85 Carey merchants who purchased a steer at the recent Wyandot County Junior Fair sale. The steer was butchered and barbecued and then served to the 4-H and FFA groups. Michael Bibick and Earl Burson were co-chairmen of the event.

School buses furnished transportation for the boys and girls.

Group singing was led by Priscilla Wright, home demonstration agent. Ralph Howard, supervisor of vocational education of Ohio spoke on "The Heritage of Youth Today." The Three Pantomines rendered their interpretation of Spike Jones' "Tennesse Waltz".

The program was ended with a talk by the Rev. Hilliard Camp, of Findlay College.

It is estimate that one-third of the world's trade is carried on in pounds sterling.

Seniors May Take Examination for NROTC Program

High school senior boys in Marion County will have a chance to qualify for the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps four-year college assistance plan when the annual examination is given here Dec. 12.

Successful candidates will participate in four years of college training with government assistance and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation. The examination is the eighth nation-wide competitive test offered by the Navy.

An explanation of the NROTC plan will be given to Harding High School seniors Oct. 20. Applications for the exam will be filled out at that time. Applications for examinations are available to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements, 17-21. Quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of high school population.

The navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program for the fall term of college. Those selected by the competitive examinations will be assigned within quotas to schools of their choice among universities and colleges which maintain NROTC units.

If accepted by the college, the candidates will be appointed midshipmen, USNR, and will have their tuition, books and normal fees paid for by the government. In addition, they will receive pay at the rate of $600 per year for the four-year period and will be provided the required uniforms. Between each academic year, summer cruises of from six to eight weeks are taken in various ships of the fleet to provide practical shipboard training.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

We Americans have a way of believing the worst that is said about us, particularly if it is said by a distinguished European.

SOKOLSKY

If propaganda is started by any country to the effect that we are mean and selfish, we not only assume that they must know what they are talking about but we organize societies to proclaim our own infamy.

There are always plenty of great men on hand to become chairman and presidents of anything that gives them the aura of a neon sign.

Thus, when Sir Winston Churchill complains of our tariffs and our customs rules, many Americans assume that both must be very bad, indeed.

-:-

NOW, THERE are some very sound thinkers who believe that all tariffs, like other obstacles to a free market, are ipso facto wrong and with them it is not necessary at this moment to quarrel because while the world would be in a better state if there were no trade barriers, the fact is that most countries have set up such devices.

What I am discussing in this article is the ratio of customs duties to total value of imports, ranging from the low of 1.6 per cent for Japan to 46 3 per cent for Chile.

Into this wide spectrum, the United States shows up as 5.1 per cent as compared with 25.6 per cent for Great Britain.

As the collection of tariff duties is very complicated, often being deceptive and difficult to get at with accuracy, these figures for the United States and other countries were arrived at by taking the total amounts collected as customs duties for a year and relating them to the total value of imports.

-:-

THE FIGURES in the preceding paragraph were for the fiscal year 1951, about which data is available for all countries.

In 1952, the customs receipts for the United States were $575,000,000; the total value of imports amounted to $10,745,000,000; the ratio was 5 3 per cent.

The United States, from the standpoint of this calculation, is the eighth lowest among 43 countries. It is interesting to note that the lowest countries are generally among the prosperous nations: Japan, Denmark, Belgium-Luxembourg, Argentina, Sweden, Norway, Netherlands, United States, Union of South Africa, Germany, Honduras, Canada and Brazil.

-:-

THE PARTICULAR study which I am consulting for this article was made by Dr John Lee Coulter, who was chief economist and statistician of the United States Tariff Commission, and then for four years (1930-34) was member of the Commission.

He is a consultant for the American Tariff League and other organizations.

It is interesting to note that in a comparison between 1937 and 1951, the ratio for the United States in 1937 is 15 8 per cent, while in 1951 it is 5 1 per cent, a decrease of 68 per cent

It has been American policy from the Roosevelt administration to the present day to lower the tariff

Cordell Hull, being a confirmed free - trader, labored for reciprocal tariff laws and tariffs. The figures show that he succeeded to a remarkable degree in reducing the American rates, if the picture is viewed as a whole.

-:-

THE COMPLAINT of the European countries, particularly Great Britain, that our tariff is too high, is not borne out altogether by the facts, especially as regards Great Britain, whose rates have gone upward.

This is an over - simplification because the internal economic problems of each country vary. Nations which need "hard" currency are faced with a different set of circumstances from nations which have plenty of "hard" currency or essential natural resources.

Yet, tariffs are rarely based upon a scientific analysis of economic problems or upon a desire to restore a free market which alone would stimulate world trade in the interest of all people.

TARIFFS ARE part of the internal politics of each country, the government submitting generally to special interest groups which use their strength in their own commodities.

It is unwise to assume that the term, special interests, in this connection necessarily has an evil connotation.

When, let us say, a community exists on a single commodity and that commodity cannot compete in any market against government-produced commodities which are dumped for political reasons, that special interest must be taken seriously from both a political and sociological point of view.

The problem of tariffs ought, therefore, to be considered not sentimentally but from the standpoint of national self-interest.

Motorist in Denver Trying To Arrest Cop for Speeding

DENVER (AP)—Motorists are arrested for speeding all the time, but Denver has a driver who's trying to arrest the cop who arrested him.

Robert G. Van Houten is scheduled to go before Judge Edgar McAuliffe today and attempt to prove to the court's satisfaction that Patrolman Joseph W. Talty had to speed to give him a ticket.

His case is based on a municipal ordinance which says the driver of an emergency vehicle can break traffic regulations only when he "sounds a siren, bell, or exhaust whistle and . . . displays a lighted red lamp."

Van Houten, who was arrested by Patrolman Talty for doing 40 in a 30-mile zone, has already been fined $20. He appealed to the County Court and filed a speeding complaint against Patrolman Talty in traffic court.

"It's the principle of the thing," Van Houten declared.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The irrepressible Jimmy Petrillo isn't exactly singing the blues over this administration. Having lost the piano - playing lifetime member he had in the White House, the Musicians' Union chief has just done almost as well. He now has another lifetime member of the American Federation of Musicians in a high place the clarinet-playing new chief justice of the United States

RIESEL

Earl Warren doesn't carry a $600 lifetime gold card such as ex-President Truman has, but the chief justice does carry with him an affection for labor It isn't, as he told Jimmy Petrillo in Santa Barbara last year, just that he earned his first money as a clarinet player in a Bakersfield, Calif., union band and has maintained his membership in the AFM s local 263.

-:-

THIS FEELING for Labor, with a capital "L," was born in the new justice His father was a union leader who was hurt leading his fellow men in the old crusading days.

The justice's dad, Mathias Warren, was a master car builder who was blackballed and lost his home and job during the great railroad strike of the decade, which is often described as mauve, but which was a bloodier color because of the great labor upheavals.

As there was another railroad job in Bakersfield, Mathias moved the family there. In that city young Earl grew up as a farm hand, freight hustler and union clarinet player.

The nation may well wonder what effect his early days will have on this genial, much beloved man, whose philosophy may shape the judicial course of our land for several generations.

-:-

WARREN HAS always played them as he saw them — for the good of his town, his state and his nation.

Back in 1936, as a militant district attorney of Alameda County, he found himself faced with three union officials charged with conspiracy to murder the chief engineer of a freighter, who had been stabbed to death.

Warren thought the labor men were guilty. He jailed them, though the memory of his own dad's union days was still sharp in his mind

Single-handedly, and in a sensational crusade, he mopped up racketeers and the Ku Klux Klan.

Later, he showed sophistication and insight on the conspiratorial nature of the Comintern.

-:-

AS CALIFORNIA'S attorney-general, Warren never confused civil liberties with license for saboteurs and fifth columnists to disrupt the state's vital aircraft and other war production

Nor did he confuse clean labor with the "system" of mob operatives which have moved in on scores of local unions.

Though he disagreed quite frequently with the political gadflies in CIO, they respected him, and as governor he consulted CIO leaders on appointments, but he was closer to the AFL.

-:-

JIMMY PETRILLO recognized this bond back in Santa Barbara last year when the quick-quipping little labor chief introduced Warren to the Musicians convention, as "a great liberal Republican of our time, a member of the Musicians' Union — and a clarinet player"

Warren thanked Jimmy for the kind words, but said he'd like to amend the introduction to read "a former clarinet player" Then he showed his feeling for their problems by saying that.

"I have watched with deep concern the disrupted careers of many fine artists whose opportunities in life have been curtailed to tragic degree by the mechanizations that have so limited the use of the American musician."

-:-

WARREN SAID that he was extending is "personal greeting because of my affection for the Federation."

"In welcoming you to California, I want to say that our state not only believes in the principles of the AFL, with which you are affiliated, but practices them.

"It is a state where for more than a half century men and women have organized themselves under your banner to raise the standards of living.

"While California has only seven per cent of the population of the nation, we have 16 per cent of the membership of the AFL.

"California is a state where the AFL has a million members and many millions of friends. We believe that here, with government cooperation but not interference, free collective bargaining is as far advanced as any place in the world.

"We do not believe in punitive legislation as between management and labor. We believe that the council table is the place to resolve differences of opinion on labor legislation"

That sounds as if a calming voice will soon be heard in Washington, where the loud cries of "liar" are being heard in the highest places during discussions of Taft-Hartley.

The voice is the voice of a man of the people.

Parenthood Hazards

By Inez Robb

From time to time in this space I have noted that parenthood is the most deadly occupation known to modern man All kids seem to come equipped these days with short tempers and six - shooters

INEZ ROBB

Out of sympathy with this uneasy situation, I wish to report today a dastardly conspiracy against the mothers and fathers of the United States.

Unless they exercise the utmost caution and vigilance, some unsuspecting ma and pa are going to wake up some day to find a full-grown interplanetary rocket ship nesting in their back yard.

-:-

THIS CONTRAPTION is 35 feet long, 12 feet high and 8 feet wide or sufficient to sink the petunias on any suburban lot.

Nor is this all: The contraption is mounted on a flat bed trailer and to the trailer is attached a large truck tractor to haul it Try that over on any 50-foot lot with picture window!

This stee.-skinned interplanetary rocket ship plus flat-bed trailer plus truck-tractor is the first prize in a diabolical national contest which a group of heartless hucksters, if the adjective isn't redundant, has thought up to sell shoes and cereals to parents for their demanding offspring.

A BLUEPRINT of this hucksters' campaign, all gall and a yard wide, has drifted into my hands

"The directness of the plan obviates the need for sending in a box top plus a dime or quarter for an entry kit, a process likely to prove expensive for premium sponsors and discouraging to junior or sister," the blue print explains.

Instead of wheedling a box top and a few old dimes from daddy, junior or sister will badger the old man until in desperation he takes them to a store where a particular brand of kid's footwear is sold Here the tot collects the entry form while salesmen put the strong arm on pop to buy baby new shoes whether he needs 'em or not.

Note again: This contest requires no box tops and dimes. This one requires dollars and "stamps"

NOW THAT the kids have the entry kit, they twist mom's wrist until she takes them to the nearest grocery store where a certain brand of cereal is sold.

Each box contains a "stamp" and junior and sister must have three stamps each to put on the entry form to make it legal

You think parents are now off the hook, having spent no more than $20 or $30 to enter the moppets in the contest? You're crazy!

Now one of the long-suffering parents had to take the kids back to the shoe store, where the entry, for heaven's sake! is validated and the salesmen got a second free throw at the family exchequer.

"As we have worked it out," the hucksters shamelessly admit in the blueprint, "the shoe dealer gets two chances to sell shoes while the grocer is guaranteed the sale of three boxes of cereal, but can hope to keep up each child's interest in the cereal as long as he is keen on collecting space credit coins," of which there are 36 kinds, one each to a box.

THE WINTER of 1953-54 will probably be remembered as that in which the average American family ate its way out of drifts of rolled oats and baled hay

Even the hucksters seem kind of ashamed of the new high-pressure jobs they are doing on low-pressure parents. The blueprint says, at one point, "There will be $1,500 in cash to soothe the winner's thunderstruck parents"

Parents can always use it to hire a defense lawyer when they kill the kids and the hucksters. Or, they can take a firm stand now and tell junior and sister to forget rocket ships and go fly a kite.

Queen Will Use Stratocruiser On Royal Tour

MONTREAL (AP) — Britain's airline boss says there will be no "nonsense" about Queen Elizabeth II using her nation's flashy new Comet jet airliner on her royal tour this winter. In fact, she'll start the trip in a U. S.-built stratocruiser

Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of the British Overseas Airways Corporation, told newsmen here yesterday: "The stratocruiser is larger and provides more space for her majesty and her entourage. All this talk (by a London newspaper, particularly) that the Queen should use a Comet jet is a lot of uninformed nonsense."

Sir Miles explained the Queen's first air trip on her journey to Australia and New Zealand will be from London to Bermuda in late November.

"This route has not been tested for the Comet," he declared. "We are taking no chances"

Treat Your Family to Herb Spanish Rice

Add flavor and aroma to your cooking by using herbs. Among the better known are basil, marjoram, thyme and oregano. Just a bit of one or the other will completely change a recipe. A touch of oregano added to Spanish rice will make it delicious.

Melt fat in saucepan or skillet. Add onion, green pepper, and rice, and cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add water, tomato sauce, salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate, and herb*. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil. Cover tightly and simmer 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

For 8 or 12 servings double or triple the recipe. Use a 5-to-6 quart sauce pan or a Dutch oven

Hearing Set for Oct. 16 On Falling Milk Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture has set a hearing in Cincinnati Oct. 16 to give dairy farmers complaining of low milk prices in the Cincinnati area a chance to state their case.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) said yesterday Assistant Secretary True Morse set the hearing at his request. Brown said he told Morse dairy farmers complain their price on milk is far too low in view of the drought and the high cost of feeding cattle.

Brown added that because of a recent price increase to milk dealers, a boost to farmers might not affect the consumer price

Youth Who Killed Boy, Wounded Cop Caught in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—A youth who police said killed a boy and wounded a patrolman was captured without a struggle last night, nearly 24 hours after he escaped from a police station.

Carey Robinson, 19, sought since Monday night, was seized by detectives in a flat near his own West Side home.

Robinson was originally arrested by police as a suspected auto thief. He bolted to freedom while being questioned by detectives Monday night. He shot Patrolman James Quinlan, 40, startling the detectives when he pulled a gun from his belt.

As he fled into the street, police said, he fired two or three more shots. One bullet struck and killed Daniel Decero, 11, who was walking near the station.

Robinson told detectives although police had searched him they did not find the gun he had tucked in a holster nestled inside his waistband. He said he had stolen the gun in a holdup Saturday.

He was held without charge for appearance Thursday at an inquest into the Decero boy's death

Deaf Mute, 11, Gets Stolen Dog Back

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Lick, 27, admired the dog a stranger brought into his tavern and accepted his offer to sell the animal for $5.

Lick learned yesterday that the dog, a rare Weimaraner, had been stolen from Johnny Sottile, an 11-year-old deaf mute, as he was walking his pet near his home. Johnny couldn't call for help and the man drove away in a car with the dog, the boy's inseparable companion since he got it as a pup 18 months ago.

Lick refused a reward and wouldn't take the $5 he had paid to the stranger. "That's the best $5 I ever spent," Lick said.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

The Children's Hour

There seems to be a strong emphasis on children all over the place. Every time I turn the dial I enconunter a small child obsessed with problems much too great for its age. It's heartbreaking and I wish they'd stop it.

J. CROSBY

Just picking over my child file at random, I came across about a TV play in which David Niven is trying to adopt a small beautiful boy from the local Catholic orphanage. Niven's wife, who had some emotional blocks that are not quite clear to me yet, couldn't endure the child, though he was a very nice lad indeed, and Niven was just on the verge, sorrowfully, of taking the boy back to the orphanage. Then, the wife, who was pregnant, fell downstairs and only the quick thinking of the boy saved her life. Play ended with wife and child in each other's arms, he happily calling her mother.

SEEMS TO ME it was on this same night on "Foreign Intrigue" that Jerome Thor rescued a youngster from a Berlin street fight. He was a remarkable child actor with a thin, wasted, old, bitter face that haunted me for days after. He was hard as rocks and nothing would thaw him out until Mr. Thor ventured behind the Iron Curtain and rescued the boy's father. Then the boy came around nicely.

One of the grimmest tales to come along was about a little girl and her brother, both graduates of a Nazi concentration camp. The girl wouldn't allow anyone to touch her little brother, though he was in urgent need of medical care, and would not utter a single word and was, on the whole, the hardest case of them all to deal with.

She softened finally under the warm sun of an American doctor's almost saintlike kindliness and, when last seen, was safely in this country, learning how to be a child.

THEN THERE WAS "The Woman Who Hated Children" because she'd lost her little boy. She was persistently and outrageously mean to a child who tried to make friends until, at the very end, the little boy brought her flowers, which reminded her so forcibly of her own lost boy that she unfroze and rejoined the human race. And, of course, there was "Crip" on "First Person," the story of a little boy with cerebral palsy, as they say, found himself.

And down the street, if I chose, I could see "Little Boy Lost," a movie in which Bing Crosby runs to earth his long lost son, another lad with a face too old for his years. I could see it but I don't think I will. I can see the same thing most any night on television.

I don't know what got all the authors on the subject of children this year. And such children! They look at you with wise, all-knowing eyes and already they have plumbed the very bottom of despair. It's going to take Tennessee Williams to write for these emotionally mixed up youngsters from now on.

AS AN ANTIDOTE, I'm going to drift over the Museum of Modern Art some afternoon and take a look at Jackie Coogan in "The Kid." He had a lot of problems too, like how to drop a quarter in the gas meter and get it out unscathed. It was the sort of problem no psychiatrist could begin to grapple with. (You bored a hole in the quarter and tied it to a piece of stout thread.)

Actually—to get back to cases—most of these plays about children have been pretty good and pretty honest plays. And the acting has been extraordinary. Child acting is not ordinarily something I care about much. Years ago it was a figure of fun.

When Lillian Hellman's "The Children's Hour" was first cast, the part of the fiendish little girl was played by a 24-year-old girl. In the present revival, the girl's part is played by a girl roughly the right age. The child actors are getting so sophisticated that it's a little frightening.

(New York Herald Tribune)

It takes a crew of 20 painters six years to paint the Ambassador Bridge between Detroit and Windsor, Ont. When they finish, it's time to start all over again at the other end.

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH (right), husband of Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, returns the salute as he is greeted at Luneburg Airport in West Germany. The Duke piloted a twin-engined RAF for the flight. He is visiting the 8th King's Royal Irish Hussars, of which he is Colonel-in-Chief. About 190 Hussars served in Korea.

Pair of Surgeons Sue Swank Night Club, Ask $300,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Two surgeons are suing the Copacabana Club for $300,000, claiming employes of the fashionable night spot beat them up because one doctor tried to carry a drink from the bar to a table.

The suit came to light Monday when State Supreme Court Justice James B. M. McNally granted the physicians—Drs. Charles F. Daniels of New York, and John W. Devine Jr., of Lynchburg, Va.—a preferred place on the trial calendar, setting the case for a week from today.

A general denial of the complaint was entered by the Copacabana, which asked for dismissal of the suit.

Murder Trial Of GI Begins At Zanesville

Massachusetts Man Accused in Killing Of State Official

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The second-degree murder trial of a Massachusetts soldier accused of slaying an Ohio State official opened here today and court attaches predicted a jury will be selected by mid-afternoon.

If the forecast timetable holds up it is possible a jury in the court of Common Pleas Judge Clarence J. Crossland may be deliberating the fate of Harold T. St. John, 25, of Dorchester, Mass., by Friday afternoon

St. John is accused of the fatal shooting of Joseph M. Harding, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, assistant state industrial relations director. The shooting took place in the driveway of the Edendale Motel on U. S. 40 about five miles west of Zanesville on the night of Aug. 26

Sheriff David Weissert reported shortly after the shooting that St. John confessed he shot Harding during an argument over whether Harding would drive him to Pittsburgh St. John, AWOL from Camp Atterbury, Ind., was a hitchhiker in Harding's car.

Later, when he was arraigned in Municipal Court, St. John pleaded innocent. His court-appointed attorney, Charles S. Leasure, planned to defend the soldier with the contention the shooting was accidental

While Prosecutor Joseph McNerney said he plans to call 20 state witnesses, defense counsel Leasure said St. John may be the only witness for the defense. Leasure declared on the eve of the trial:

"He (St. John) is the only witness we'll have as far as we know. The fact the state has summoned 20 witnesses indicates the prosecutor has a lot of things to prove before he can get a conviction"

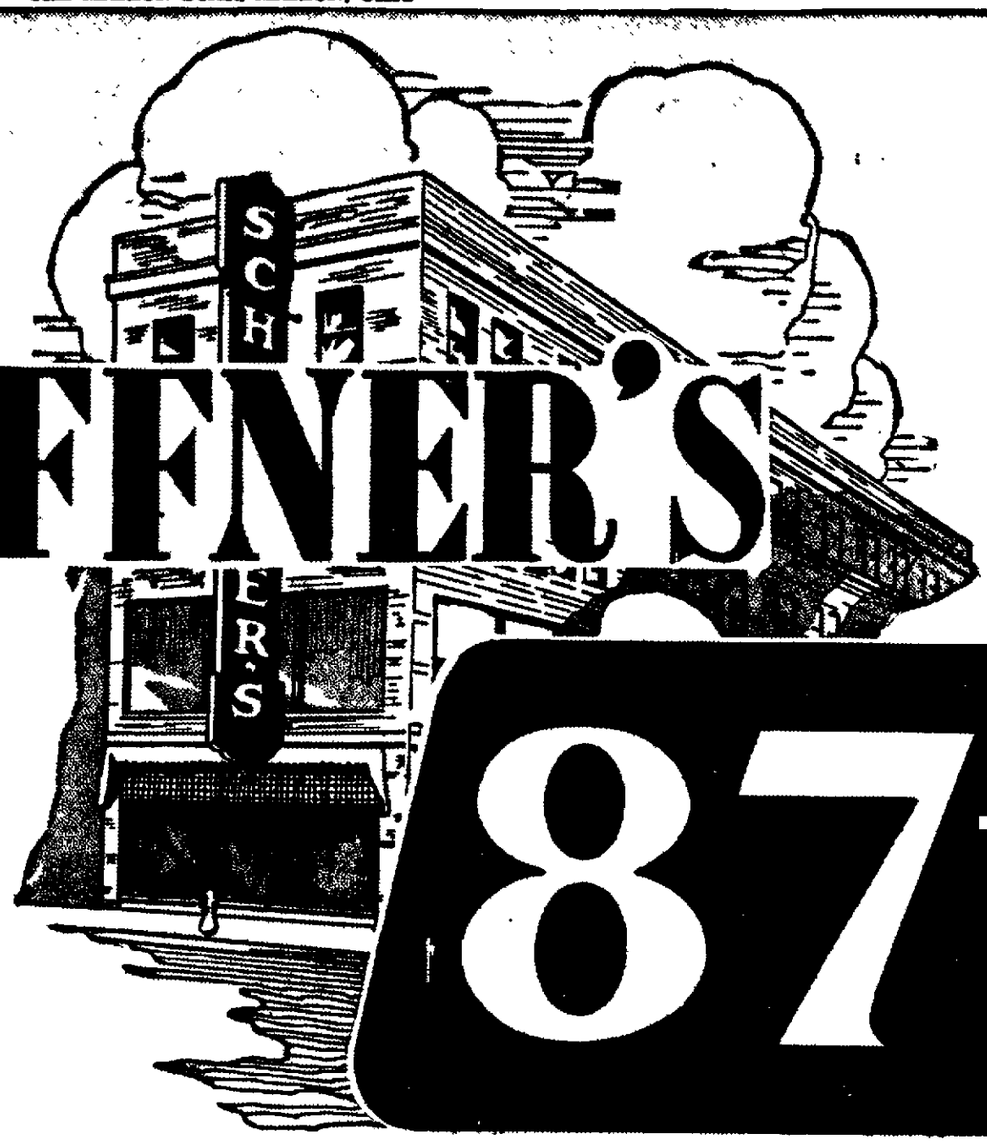
SCHAFFNER'S



Celebration Begins Tomorrow!

87th

ANNIVERSARY

87 years young and growing lustily! That's the record we at Schaffner's are proud of and happy to be a part of; ever progressive and ever expanding. To have grown into, not only the oldest retail store in Marion, but the largest home furnishings store in North Central Ohio bespeaks volumes for the accomplishment. It represents 87 years of SERVICE. And to have successfully advanced so far along time's corridor confirms the DEPENDABILITY inherent in our mould.

Three generations of Schaffners believed, and the fourth generation believes, that the policy of understanding, efficiency, honesty and fair dealing is the only way to make and hold customers. A belief in absolute customer satisfaction that reaches beyond the academic stage to concrete action, is, to our way of thinking, not only our duty but also our privilege.

A lot of long range planning went into the preparations for this 87th Anniversary Celebration; we're coming up with surprise events that will please all the folks in the Marion trading area; events and values that will astound one and all! There will be substantial savings, assured by our association with over 400 of the country's leading independent retail stores to gain the lower costs resulting from pooling their tremendous purchasing power. You, of course, participate in the resultant savings!

We thank each and every one of you for your patronage, your good words and your good wishes. We are grateful for these things.

It is good to be an American, yea, it is good to be a Marionite! Our greatest privileges are indeed these!

DEPENDABLE Furniture Since 1866

FAMILY ALBUM NOTES

THE YEAR was 1848. On one continent there was turmoil, a French upheaval, revolts in Ireland, Lombardy, Venice, Denmark and elsewhere; in the Western Hemisphere, a fast growing nation was outstripping its infancy with all the might in its youthful frame . . . its vigor was apparent throughout the length and breadth of the land, evidenced by a population census revealing about 23,000,000 souls or almost six times the 1790 figure, the erection of the Washington Monument, the discovery of gold in the westernmost lands, and lo' the first Woman's Rights Convention was held in this year.

Henry Schaffner also chose this year of 1848 to make a momentous decisiorf in his native Switzerland . . . he would go to America, the land of the free and the brave, to carve a courageous and honest way of living in the raw wilderness of the Northwest lands. The Erie Canal brought him as far as Buffalo and thence he advanced west to Mansfield, and, after a short sojourn there, moved on to Marion County. It was then 1849.

Marion was hardly recognizable in those days of pioneer courage, except as a wide place in the road between the Ohio river and Sandusky; it was a stop on the way by which products were taken to Lake Erie for water transport. Events such as the Civil War, the Alaska Purchase, the first successful Oil Well, and the completion of the first Transcontinental Railway were a decade or so away.

Comforts and conveniences of that day and age were so few it is hardly conceivable to present day generations; there were no telephones, automobiles, radios, movies, cameras, television, or labor saving devices taken for granted today such as lawn mowers, combine harvesters, disc-cultivators, electric milkers or cream separators. Present day turmoil and tension with its almost universal use of headache potions would have been a great source of awe, or probably amusement to the hardy pioneers of that period. About April 1st, 1850, young Henry Schaffner entered an apprenticeship as a cabinet-maker under Peter Dorn, a prosperous furniture dealer of Kenton, Ohio. Shortly, thereafter, he returned to Marion and entered the employe of Samuel Salter, then a manufacturer of and dealer in furniture.

Thoreau's Walden was published in 1854 with its peaceful delineation of nature and its ways; however, this was a year of great calamity to the Marion area. During Henry Schaffner's employe, in the summer of 1854, a devastating epidemic of cholera raged out of hand. Coffin making became a part of the cabinetmaker's work, so he, with others, was kept busy making coffins. A branch of a tree was cut to length by the family of the deceased and the coffin was built accordingly.

The village was all but abandoned during this period of trial. Eighty residents fell victim of the scourge and all who could find refuge elsewhere left the village. Men came on horseback only for medicines and the direst necessities, and departed as fast as their horses could carry them. The epidemic lasted for approximately six weeks A majority, if not all, of the victims were buried in the cemetery then on (the present day) Quarry Street. This period probably represented the greatest economic depression the county ever experienced; as, in the furniture business at least, a total of six chairs accounted for the entire volume of business during this time of terror.

After Henry Schaffner returned from the Civil War in 1866, a partnership was entered into with William Fies and Albert Dreyer for the manufacture and sale of furniture. This partnership flourished for some years, though finally dissolved, and Mr. Schaffner entered business for himself. He built a small but complete steam factory for the production of furniture and in 1882 he added undertaking which today is still carried on under the name of The Schaffner-Denzer Company.

In 1891, due to advancing age he discontinued the manufacture of furniture and assisted by his son, Franklin Schaffner, expanded the furniture and undertaking business. At the death of Henry Schaffner in 1907, the family incorporated the business under the name of The H. Schaffner Company which name it still retains.

Franklin Schaffner continued as head of the business throughout his lifetime. He zealously maintained the high traditions of his father and at his death in 1938, the business fell to the management of his son, Wilfred Schaffner, who still remains active. Associated with him are members of the fourth generation, John Schaffner, Helen Louise Schaffner-Platt and John Platt, a son-in-law.

As of today, those of the family who share responsibilities, acknowledge with great respect the solid principle of honest dealings as laid down by the preceding generations. They feel there is no successful substitute for the principle of the Golden Rule in business as well as elsewhere.

So long as they remain in management they are pledged to guard the import of the slogan . . . "dependable furniture since 1866."

Hazards Found in Check

Fire Prevention Program Reaches Halfway Mark

The halfway point in National Fire Prevention Week was reached today. Authorities are continuing their efforts to instruct the public in the dangers of carelessness in the use of fire.

Since the Chicago fire of Oct. 9 and 10, 1871, fire prevention and protection have become a science instead of the haphazard procedure they were at the time .

For the 30 years until 1920, on one day each year was set aside to remind people of the need for fire prevention. In 1920, President Wilson proclaimed Fire Prevention Week which was set to include Oct. 9, the anniversary of the start of the Chicago blaze.

—:—

IN 1922, THE National Chamber of Commerce organized the National Fire Waste Council which consists of 37 national organizations engaged in promoting fire prevention.

At the same time, the Inter-Chamber National Fire Waste Program was inaugurated. Feature of this was a contest among the participating cities. More than 600 cities with their fire departments, city officials and clubs engage in the program in an effort to control fire losses.

Human carelessness in handling fire and combustible materials was cited by the National Fire Prevention Association as the greatest single factor contributing to fires.

In the spot check given eight Marion business firms Monday, fire Chief Owen Sifritt said the results showed that too many persons fail to realize the danger of leaving rubbish, trash and old papers lying in places where they may catch fire and do serious damage.

Although the general results of the check were very satisfactory, the chief was disturbed over the careless way in which rubbish and other burnable trash was handled.

—:—

NATIONAL AUTHORITIES stress that littered rubbish can be a serious fire hazard. A lighted cigaret, match, or stray spark falling in such trash can cause a blaze to spring up almost instantly, they say.

Farmers are warned of the danger of smoking and handling burning materials in and around barns where the most combustible materials are found, particularly hay and straw.

A smoldering match or spark falling into a pile of hay can destroy a man's barn, or, if the buildings are close together, his entire farm.

HEARTBREAK, TRAGEDY and financial ruin can be the result of one moment's carelessness when dealing with fire. Over 3,000 persons perished in flames last year, and over $800 million worth of property was destroyed.

Here in Marion, the danger of fire was pointed up by outburst of blazes during the summer, and home residents should be especially careful to guard against accidental fires authorities say. Chamber of Commerce officials who made these statements also expressed the confidence that Marion would strive to eliminate, as nearly as possible, the losses caused by fire.

WHATZAT? This blue ridge saber-tooth, wide-eyed chipmunk is enough to scare a man out of his wits. It's the creation of Bill Custer, Roanoke, Va., amateur taxidermist, and is made from a chipmunk's body, squirrel feet, fish head (pike), and top of deer fur. Source of the teeth is unknown.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD—The president Don Parrott presided at the Thursday night meeting of the Richwood Lions Club. It was announced that the club would cooperate with the recent project of beautifying Richwood by planting tulips this fall.

The club will assist as co-sponsors with members of the Marion Lion's Club in organizing a Lions Club at Green Camp Thursday night.

For the evenings program, Ernest R. Begg, physical education director of Ohio State University and a professional and amateur wrestling coach, gave a talk on his work.

Dinner preceding the meeting was seved by the ladies of the Central Methodist Church.

DIES IN PARMA

CLEVELAND (AP)—Theodore Zolnowski, 95, one of the founders of a local group which became the Alliance of Poles of America, died yesterday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Joseph L. Zoulek, in Parma Heights. He became first president of the alliance in 1895.

Gen. Clark Off For Home, Hull Takes Charge

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark left today for home and retirement "with the hope and prayer that the armistice which he has signed will bring peace to this part of the world."

Clark's last goodby as he boarded his plane was to the old friend who succeeds him as commander of the U. S. forces in the Far East and the United Nations in Korea, Gen. John E. Hull.

The command changed at 9 a.m., the moment the wheels of Clark's four-engine Constellation left the runway at Tokyo's Haneda Airport.

In a farewell message to the men and women of the U. S. and United Nations forces which he had commanded since May 12, 1952, Clark said he was finding his goodby "more difficult than I had expected . . .

"Not alone because it is the final one of my Army career, but because I am reluctant to sever my direct association with so noble a cause as that personified by the United Nations Command.

"This struggle against Communist agression, in which you and I have taken part—and which will continue to demand your utmost vigilance and fidelity—is unique in the history of mankind. Never before has a strong group of nations, acting under the authority of a permanent world organization and by the free will of its members, fought together to achieve world freedom and world democracy."

The 57-year-old Clark, who will retire at his own request Oct. 31, told newsmen he was leaving "with the utmost confidence in Gen. Hull and what he will do here in this command."

Wayne, Ind., for a basket dinner served at noon. Officers elected to serve for next year were Mrs. Harold Jamison of Marion, president, and Mrs. Dale Willis of Marion, secretary and treasurer.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche today reappointed Floyd Peterson of Canton as a member of the Canton district, Industrial Regional Claims Board for a term ending Sept. 30, 1959.

ERIE AGENTS TO MEET

Alleged Abduction All Wrong, Says Wisconsin Girl, 15

BARAGA Mich (AP)—A 15-year-old Wisconsin girl claimed today "we had planned to marry" and it was "all a mistake" to arrest her and her 40-year-old male companion.

Betty Bailey, 15 said she left her Crandon, Wis, home willingly with Jack Shelton, 40, who police identified as an ex-convict and former boarder in Betty's home He is wanted in Wisconsin on a charge of enticing a minor (Betty) from her home.

Michigan state troopers said Betty's 16-year-old cousin Jack Bailey, supported her story as the two was locked up overnight in the Baraga County jail.

Despite the girl's admission she went willingly, Wisconsin authorities said anyone convicted of enticing a minor from home could be sentenced from three years to life imprisonment They added that consent of the minor was no defense

The Bailey youth was with Shelton and Betty when they were captured yesterday in Shelton's car, parked on a dump in the outskirts of Baraga They had been sought since speeding away from the girl's home Saturday.

Michigan state police said they expected Wisconsin authorities here today

Mrs. Rollie Bailey, mother of Betty, was quoted in Crandon as saying that Shelton stopped at her home Saturday After being ordered away, she said he drove down the road and later intercepted Betty fleeing with her

Wisconsin authorities said Shelton had served a term for armed robbery and recently had been released from jail for a traffic violation

Report on Koreans By Bishop Werner To Launch Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner has returned from a month's trip to Korea where he studied the needs of churches and allied institutions. Friday he will tell 3,000 pastors and laymen of his findings in a mass meeting in Columbus

The meeting will launch a $1,830,000 Ohio Methodist program of church building and rehabilitation both in the state and in other nations.

Bishop Werner will present suggestions on ways Ohio Methodists can aid Koreans. The denomination in this state is concentrating its mission efforts on post-war rehabilitation in that country.

Although the building and rehabilitation program abroad will center in Korea and South India, slightly more than one-half of the big fund nearly one million dollars—is earmarked to build churches in new Ohio communities and to enlarge facilities in other rapidly growing communities of the state.

On his return home, Bishop Werner said of the Korean people

"Their capacity to survive is amazing, probably because they have struggled through so much already, and they are used to tough going"

"There is little bitterness" among the Koreans toward the United States, he added, even though they believe the United States does not understand the Communist situation. "They just think we'll someday have Communism in this country," Dr. Werner said, "because we didn't wake up in time."

VACATION TO END

Cross Country Runners on New Streak

Harding Team Wins Over Rugged Springfield Squad

Harding's cross country squad stretched its new win streak to two yesterday with a 24-31 upset victory over Springfield on the Country Club course

The struggle for the lead was a constant three-man affair among Springfield's Trimble and Harding's Hugh Kinnamon and Gene Monroe. Trimble crossed the finish line first, pulling ahead when Kinnamon broke stride around the last turn to avoid crowding the Springfield man against a bench

Trimble finished in 10:42 with Kinnamon a half-second behind Monroe pulled in third at 10.45.

Kinnamon's time was an improvement of 0:20 5 over his 11 03 in last Friday's 25-31 victory over Bedford. Bedford chopped 12 seconds off of his second-place time of last Friday.

Harding was running in yesterday's meet without Jack Andrews who was out with a cold.

While the contest for first was going on, veteran Dick Bollinger of Marion closed up the gap to take fourth in 11 01 Two other Harding harriers turned in their best times of the season to finish in the first 10. Sophomore Ben Dozier pulled in sixth at 11:16, and senior Allen Green finished in 11 31 to take ninth.

Harding Coach Ken Somerlot said the encouraging part of the victory over previously undefeated Springfield was the showing of the squad's new runners.

Dick Mull broke 12 minutes along with junior Norm Hartman who has been working out less than two weeks. Many of the younger boys are approaching the 12:00 mark, and Somerlot expects them to help improve Harding scoring within another week.

Tomorrow Harding runs against Mansfield on the opposition's home course, the Coleridge Golf Course. Somerlot reports that Mansfield is rated the best cross country squad in the state with a 26-29 victory over Worthington.

Defending Champs Fall at Prospect

Prospect edged Green Camp, the defending county baseball titlists, 2-1 in 10 innings on the winners' field.

The winning run in the last of the tenth came on triples by Tom Hickman and Ron Wood. Prospect took a one-run lead in the fourth on a single by Hickman, a sacrifice and another single by Rennlingler but Green Camp tied the score in the fifth on two Prospect errors and a sacrifice sandwiched in between.

Hickman toiled the first eight innings for Prospect, fanning 12 and walking two, and Rogers finished up, striking out five and walking none to receive credit for the victory. Rogers and Bruce Emery were the Prospect catchers. Louie Finch, the Green Camp hurler, struck out 13 and walked none. His catcher was Stover.

Hickman with two singles and a triple and Wood with a single and triple paced the Prospect hitting attack. Bish and Finch each had two singles for the losers. Green Camp and Prospect both banged out a total of seven hits.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

A man well-known to Marion basketball fans received nationwide recognition Monday night at the annual all-sports banquet at Lockbourne Air Force base south of Columbus

SHORT

He was Lt. George Steinbrenner who appeared here last winter with the Lockbourne cage squad for a basketball doubleheader at the Coliseum.

Lt. Steinbrenner received honors bestowed by New York City sportswriters earlier this year. A plaque labeling him as one of the most outstanding athletes of the year in the United States was presented by the Lockbourne commanding officer.

Steinbrenner is athletic officer at the base and serves as player, coach or manager with nearly all the base teams. He was the Skyhawk baseball and basketball coach and an active member of the track squad. The teams compete in the 16-team Great Lakes Conference.

His track men, tennis players, golfers and swimming teams placed third in the conference during the past year.

As a member of the Lockbourne track squad, George rewrote the record books during the past two seasons. He has been the big gun of the Skyhawk harriers and set a new conference record for the 440-yard hurdles during the league meet. That mark was good enough also to lower the record for the Air Force and Armed Forces meets. As a result Steinbrenner was named captain of the Air Force track team at the Armed Forces Meet.

END OF LINE. Crestline High School shocked the Northern Ohio League this week with the announcement it would withdraw from league action at the end of this school year. A. T. Enoch, principal of the school, informed the league members of their intentions.

Crestline has been the only Class B school in the league since its formation in 1944. It was a charter member. Other schools in the circuit are Upper Sandusky, Galion, Bucyrus, Shelby, Norwalk, Willard and Bellevue.

Enoch gave the main reason for Crestline's withdrawal as lack of athletic potential. The school has slightly less than 150 boys in its top four grades. Crestline has never won a Northern Ohio League title in football or basketball.

—:—

THIS IS A PROBLEM? Harding Coach Pete Howison isn't exactly sad about the Prexy quarterback situation this year. Junior Don Schweinfurth has clinched the main job of signal calling but suitable help is also available Fred Price, regular from last year, is ready and turned in a respectable job last week at Tiffin In addition Doug Bibler probably could step into the role he filled as a sophomore. Added to all this is a sophomore, up from Edison Junior High School, Harold Jones. Jones has shown exceptional promise as a passer and assures that Harding quarterbacking will be in good hands for the next three seasons.

Football Fans See Less Play, More Thrills

NEW YORK (AP)—College football fans are seeing less football for their money this year under the one-platoon system, but they're getting enough action and close competition to make up for the loss.

That casual observation, based on two games seen thus far by one writer—Notre Dame vs. Oklahoma and Princeton vs. Columbia, is backed up by figures from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Few games could be more exciting than Notre Dame's 28-21 decision over Oklahoma or Princeton's last minute 20-19 victory over Columbia. But a calm checkup reveals that there were only 146 plays run off in the sun-scorched contest at Norman, Okla., and 149 at Princeton, including kickoffs and plays nullified by penalties.

Those figures apparently were above the average so far this year, although they represented a sharp drop from a few games checked in 1951 and 1952, which showed anywhere from 150 to 163 plays per game.

The NCAB, limiting its statistics to defensive plays for convenience, comes up with the figure of 118 per game as an average for some 300 games played so far this season. Last year the season's average was 133.4 plays per game.

Scoring has shown a proportionate drop—from an average of 36.7 points for two teams per game to 32.8. But everything else, according to NCAB figures, looks favorable toward the two-way game as compared to the two-platoon performances of the past few days

When the rules-makers abolished the platoon system, the decrease in the number of plays and in scoring was "anticipated and probably desirable," according to Homer Cooke, director of the statistical setup for the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

What wasn't anticipated was that offensive football would sustain its pace as well as it has, that the statistical "spread" between the leaders and trailers in nearly every department would be decreased and that the big change would be in the decreased use of forward passes.

Syracuse University's Archbold Stadium, one of the oldest concrete bowls in the country, is now in its 47th season. The game was played there in 1907.

IT MAY BE FAREWELL FOR JOHNNY. Johnny Mize poses with Manager Casey Stengel in the Post World Series quiet of Yankee Stadium, New York, as Mize left the ball park for what may be the last time. The "Big Cat" has said he definitely would retire at the end of the baseball season this year.

Pleasant Nine Nips New Bloomington In Baseball Play

Pleasant nipped New Bloomington 3-2 in a Marion County Baseball League game yesterday at New Bloomington. A last-inning rally by Harry Alexander's charges was stopped short by the Pleasant squad.

The winners took a 1-0 lead in the first inning and added a pair in the third to clinch the game New Bloomington pushed over both its tallies in the seventh. Charles Leffler was the winning pitcher while David Johnson was charged with the loss. Owings and Sellers topped the winners' hitting attack with three hits each. Johnson with two singles was New Bloomington's top hitter. Leffler struck out 13. The losers entertain Meeker Thursday in another league engagement.

The oldest person to win in American Bowling Congress melal was Robert Watson of Los Angeles who rolled a 300 game on Oct. 19, 1947, at the age of 70.

Harding Track Team Schedules Annual Benefit Flower Sale

Harding's cross country and track teams will conduct their annual drive for funds at the Columbus Central homecoming game next week, Coach Ken Somerlot announced today.

The runners will be in or around the stadium selling 'mums before and during the game. Proceeds from the sale of the flowers will be used to benefit the cross country and track activities at the school.

Somerlot said the proceeds would be used in buying ribbons, medals and trophies for the Harding Night Relays next May 7 He said the local runners were looking forward to a 'bigger and better meet than ever before'

Ken also announced that many ticket holders at the last home game against Bowling Green failed to take advantage of the special pass gate opened for that game The gate for season ticket holders was opened just south of the permanent gates but many fans apparently were unaware of the opening and stood in line at the windows.

This week, the gate will be open again to allow the bearers to reach their seats without waiting in line for tickets. The gate will be open until 8 p.m., time of the kickoff.

Women Caddies Crimp Style of U.S. Linksmen

PARIS (AP)—The American Ryder Cup golf team, which doesn't upset very easily, confessed to a man today that it is slightly nettled over one aspect of European golf

It's the women caddies

The American professionals, off to a 4-1 lead over an European all-star team from six countries wind up their first continental match this afternoon

One of the first things that struck them at the suburban St Cloud course was the system of using women to carry clubs

Walter Burkemo's caddy confided in him she's expecting the blessed event in about five months

"You know," said the Detroit pro who teamed with Sammy Snead for a 6 and 4 win yesterday, "I just feel like going up to her and saying, 'Ma'am I'll carry that bag.'"

Morral Hurler Halts Meeker In No-Hit Game

A no-hitter by Manfried Saxton of Morral against Meeker highlighted action in Marion County Baseball League play Tuesday.

Morral's victory and wins by Prospect and Pleasant left the three teams deadlocked for loop supremacy with 2-1 marks

Saxton, a right hander, fanned 16 and walked six in his 13-0 performance on the winners' field He permitted only one runner to reach third base. Charles Rice was his catcher

Pacing Morral's 12-hit attack was Clyde Neal with a pair of triples and a single John Craycraft punched out two doubles and Jim Shifflet and Ronnie Rice collected two singles.

Newland, Hudnall and Sharp were on the mound for Meeker with Hudnall and White behind the plate.

Wharton is at Morral Thursday and then New Bloomington is there Tuesday for its next league encounter.

A special king-size bed had to be ordered for Texas freshman basketball Ellis Olmsted. The giant bed measures 84 inches long by 39 inches wide. Olmstead is six feet 10 inches tall.

Shrugs Off Praise

Ohio State's Bob Watkins Called Week's Leading Back

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Block-busting Bobby Watkins, shy and soft-spoken through the week but strictly business on the football field on Saturday, shrugged off praise today after being selected the Associated Press back-of-the-week.

The 188-pound junior halfback from New Bedford, Mass., accepted humbly the congratulations from his teammates and passed on plaudits to the hulking Ohio State University line.

The stout, 21-year-old standout, built like a piano, made shreds of the California line last Saturday, running up 145 yards in 20 tries for a 7.2 average and scoring four touchdowns.

His coach, Woody Hayes, thinks Watkins' defensive play was just as brilliant. Twice his vicious tackling caused California bobbles—one of which led to an Ohio State touchdown when the Buckeyes held only a 20-19 advantage. Ohio State went on to win, 33-19.

Lynn Waldorf, California coach, called Watkins "the hardest back we've seen in a long time."

Last year Watkins' coaches at Ohio State worried because of an apparent lack of aggressiveness. There's no room for those complaints this year. For Watkins, who possesses the power of a fullback and the elusiveness of a halfback, aggressiveness now is his big weapon.

George Jacoby, Ohio State tackle and co-captain, had this to say about the "new" Watkins:

"He was a little green last year. He didn't know he had such power and he wasn't too agressive. But this year he knows he can go—and he goes."

The self-effacing Watkins, whose musical taste runs to Brahms, Bach and Beethoven, has only one ambition—to play in the Rose Bowl.

But Hayes isn't talking Rose Bowl. Not yet, at least. He keeps thinking of the rugged schedule ahead which finds his Buckeyes tangling with Illinois, Penn, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Michigan State, Purdue and Michigan on successive Saturdays.

When Hayes learned Watkins had been selected back-of-the-week, he said simply: "He certainly deserved it. He's a mighty good boy all the way around."

Big Ten Eyes Return to Top Of Grid World

CHICAGO (AP)—It looks like 1953 will mark the return of the Big Ten to top dog standing among college football conferences.

Apparently fully recovered from a sickly 1952 season, the long-respected Midwest loop gives every indication of tremendous over-all strength.

So far in 1953, each Big Ten team has played two games. Five of them—Michigan, Michigan State, Northwestern, Ohio State and Wisconsin—are undefeated and untied and another, Illinois, has won one game, but has been tied once.

After two games of the 1952 season, Wisconsin was the only undefeated, untied team in the conference. That year, Big Ten outfits finished their regular seasons with a far-below-standard record of eight wins, 13 losses and two ties against outside opponents.

Wisconsin was selected for a Rose Bowl assignment and lost to Southern California—the first defeat by a Big Ten team in the series.

So far this season, Big Ten teams have won nine outside games, lost four and tied one. Southern California accounted for two of the setbacks, dumping Minnesota and Indiana, while Purdue suffered the other two—to Missouri and Notre Dame. In addition, Nebraska tied Illinois.

Last Saturday's performance pointed up the league's change for the better. Northwestern walked by a good Army team, 33-20, Illinois humbled Stanford, 33-21, Iowa walloped Washington State, 54-12, Ohio State beat California, 33-19, and Michigan beat Tulane 26-7.

Only team given real competition by a non-conference foe was Wisconsin, which squeaked by a strong Marquette squad, 13-11.

There doesn't seem to be any particular reason for the upsurge, commissioner Kenneth L. Wilson says.

Michigan State, Ohio State, Michigan and Wisconsin figure as title favorites, in about that order.

Buckeyes, MSC Picked To Win By Grid Writer

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Sweep up the fragments and roll out another crystal ball for a slightly bandaged pigskin prognosticator:

Michigan State 34, Texas Christian 7—So we picked Minnesota over Michigan State. That'll teach us a lesson. Those Spartans can be stopped, but not for 60 minutes.

Wisconsin 20, UCLA 14 (Friday night)—Alan (The Horse) Ameche did it alone against Marquette, but he'll have help from mended mates against UCLA.

Northwestern 20, Minnesota 13—The Wildcats top the nation offensively. It looks more and more like Paul (Gopher) Giel can't be a terror both on offense and defense.

Ohio State 24, Illinois 13. The Illini have scored five touchdowns in the last quarter in out-gaming Nebraska and Stanford. But the Buckeye line will give J. C. Caroline a tough time. Ohio State's running attack is getting powerful behind Johnny Borton's pitching.

Marquette 14, Indiana 13—The Hilltoppers might have spilled Wisconsin, except for the rain and Ameche. Indiana gave Southern California a stiff argument before losing, 27-14. This should be a ding-dong scrap.

Purdue 19, Duke 13—The drubbing from Notre Dame, following an upset by Missouri, will find the boilermakers spoiling for a fight.

Michigan 20, Iowa 14—The Hawkeyes are dangerous. They throttled Michigan State's swift attack two weeks ago and then crushed Washington State. The unbeaten Wolverines will have a rough go.

Florence Chadwick Swims Bosporus

THERAPIA, Turkey (AP) — Florence Chadwick added to her swimming honors today by swimming the tricky Bosporus from Europe to Asia and then back to Europe.

The 33-year-old typist from San Diego, Calif., was timed unofficially in one hour, 15 minutes. She plunged into the water at 7:10 a. m. (2:10 a. m., EST) at Sariyer Point on the European shore.

The widest point across the 1½-mile Posporus was chosen in order that the test "would not be too easy" for Miss Chadwick who has gained an international reputation as a long distance swimmer.

Miss Chadwick has conquered the English Channel twice and only last Sept. 20 astonished Spanish swimming experts by swimming the channel of the Straits of Gibraltar, famous for its tricky currents. For this feat the Spanish dubbed her the "iron woman."

She next plans to swim the Hellespont, now known as the Dardanelles.

Gil Turner Top-Heavy Choice in TV Feature

DETROIT (AP)—Philadelphia's Gil Turner, biding his time while waiting for another shot at the welterweight championship, is a top-heavy choice to trim Italo Scortichini in their 10-round bout in Olympia Stadium tonight.

Around town Turner, ranked No. 2 in the welter division, is being quoted as a 4-1 to 6-1 favorite for the nationally televised fight starting at 10 p. m. EST.

The odds are probably right. It's hard to see how Turner can lose.

Northwestern Ohio Gasoline Dealers Protest Price Slash

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A gasoline price cut has resulted in protests from 19 members of the Northwestern Ohio Gasoline Dealers Assn., whose attorney plans to ask the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission for an investigation.

The 190 members have refused to put into effect a cut of 2.2 cents a gallon. About 90 members, however, have gone along with the reduction, which they say was initiated by major oil companies.

The new price is 25.9 cents for regular and 28.4 cents for premium gasoline.

Atty. William D. Snow said he would charge "attempts at price manipulation and price dictation" in a protest with the Department of Justice's antitrust division. He also planned to ask the Chicago office of the Federal Trade Commission for an investigation of what he termed "unfair methods of competition and deceptive acts and practices."

Control Area for Jap Beetle Widened in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department yesterday extended its quarantine for control of Japanese beetles in Ohio. Plants, fresh fruits and vegetables, and soil shipped from regulated areas are subject to various kinds of certification, inspection and treatment.

The new regulated areas include all remaining non-regulated sections of Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake and Trumbull counties; Troy Twp. in Athens County, townships of Addison, Cheshire, Clay, Green, Gallipolis, and Harrison, and the city of Gallipolis in Gallia County; townships of Lebanon, Letart, Olive, Salisbury, and Sutton, and the cities of Middleport and Pomeroy in Meigs County; townships of Jefferson and elk in Noble County, and Aurelius Twp. in Washington County.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—John Moldovan, 70, was acquitted yesterday of a first degree murder charge. He had been charged after he shot John Magneto, 43, whom he had ordered out of the Western Bar. Witnesses testified Magneto had threatened to kill Moldovan during the altercation.

Axle Tax Is Predicted To Take in $20 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A prediction that Ohio's new axle-mile tax on big trucks will produce the 20 million dollars its authors said it would was made today by John W. Peck, state tax commissioner.

Peck said he was making the prediction on the basis of early registration reports. Asked if he now thinks revenues will be up to earlier estimates, he declared:

"Personally, I think they will be. Regardless of how late some registrations may be, truckers must pay quarterly from last Oct. 1."

Highway department experts also share Peck's estimates. There have been some estimates of returns that are even higher.

Temperature Falls As Clear Sky, Cool Weather Prevails

By The Associated Press

Clear and cool weather prevailed over wide areas in the eastern half of the country today but rain continued along the East Coast and in New England.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s and 30s over most of the Great Lakes region early today but some warming was on the way.

It was warmer in the Rocky Mountain region and far southwest. Southern California's early October heat wave appeared breaking with cooler weather forecast today. Temperatures, however, hit record highs for the date again yesterday in many cities, including 96 at Los Angeles 101 in North Hollywood and 104 in Glendale.

One of the lowest readings this morning was 23 in Houghton, Mich. while in contrast Yuma, Ariz., reported 87.

The total oil energy used in farming is about 750 million horsepower, which is more than that used by all other American industries.

Marion Hockey Club Signs 3 To Contracts

Three forwards were added today to the Marion Baron' Hockey Club's roster with the announcement of the signing of right wingmen Mac Beaton and Orin Carver and left wingman Paul Emms by Coach Ott Heller at the Barrie, Ontario training camp.

"Carver put up such a brilliant showing at training camp that for a while it was thought he might be used with the Cleveland club," said Heller about his speed merchant who starred with the Barrie Flyers, Memorial Cup Champions, last season.

The 21 - year - old wingman is marked down in the scouts' books as a comer. He is one of the fastest skaters in the game, a fine stickhandler who came up with many game winning goals last season.

Emms, also 21, is a hard-driving, tough port-sider who played for the Toledo Mercurys last season and two years ago with his home town Barrie Flyers in another Memorial Cup Championship year for the Cleveland Baron affiliate.

"Mac Beaton will probably be on the right side of the line centered by Gordon Vejprava with Emms on the left alley," said Heller discussing his plans for the season.

Beaton, whose last club was the New Haven Nutmegs, was born in Brandon, Manitoba on Feb. 9, 1929 and stands an even six foot. Carver was born in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada and is a wiry 5-11. The only married man of the trio is Emms. He and his wife, Suzanne, have a three-months-old daughter Barbara.

Dovie Dean To Be Executed on Nov. 6

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today scheduled the execution of Mrs. Dovie Blanche Dean, 54-year-old husband slayer, for Nov. 6.

The court turned down the appeal of Mrs. Dean from her first-degree murder conviction in the poison death of Hawkins Dean, 68, in their Clermont County farm home more than a year ago to get his $27,000 estate.

Unless Gov. Frank J. Lausche intervenes, Mrs. Dean will be the second woman to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair. The first was Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn of Cincinnati on Dec. 7, 1938, for the poison slaying of an elderly man she served as a nurse.

Counsel for Mrs. Dean in appealing from her conviction claimed the trial court erred by failing to include in her first-degree murder charge the lesser charges of second degree murder and manslaughter.

A jury convicted Mrs. Dean without recommending mercy, making the death sentence mandatory.

Expect To Repeat

Stengel, Dressen Looking For Mound Help in 1954

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Offhand, prospects for dethroning the world champion New York Yankees and National League-ruling Brooklyn Dodgers do not appear overly bright. However, rival major league managers detected a ray of hope in the recently concluded World Series.

Except for two of the six games, the series indicated strongly that both the Yankees and Dodgers must improve their pitching to successfully defend their titles. Only four of the 12 starting hurlers were able to go the route. Eddie Lopat and Preacher Roe did it in the second game and Vic Raschi and Carl Erskine in the third.

Erskine is the only one of this quartet who figures to duplicate or better his 1953 record. The others are past 35 and cannot be counted on to be more than once-a-week starters. So is Allie Reynolds, the Yankee ace, who has the added handicap of an aching back. The strong-armed right-hander, worried by his recurring muscular spasms, may decide not to come back at all next year.

Every big league manager but three—Charlie Grimm, Paul Richards and Lou Boudreau—attended the series. Not all stayed to the very end. Leo Durocher left the second game. Eddie Stanky hastened to St. Louis after the third game to attend an organizational meeting. Before he departed Stanky declared his Cardinals as well as the Giants, Phillies and Braves would have to improve by 20 per cent to overtake the Dodgers. Cleveland Manager Al Lopez admitted his Indians could not catch the Yankees with the present personnel.

Managers Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Chuck Dressen of the Dodgers are confident they will repeat next year but admit they are worried about their club's pitching.

"This same team with some added pitching could win it again in 1954," Dressen said. "The others must get a lot stronger. We're strong in every department but pitching."

"We have a good enough team to win the pennant again next year," Dressen said, "but we want something more than that. We will trade with anybody who will trade with us."

Stengel frankly is afraid that Reynolds, Raschi, Lopat and John Sain may fold next year. In fact the only pitcher he is satisfied will be a big winner again is Whitey Ford, his young southpaw. He is hopeful that Steve Kraly, up from Binghamton; Tom Morgan, now in the Army; Bob Weisler of Kansas City; and Jim McDonald, a holdover, will form the nucleus of a new mound staff.

Royals Seek Clincher In Little World Series

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Blues tonight will be fighting to stave off a bit of humiliation no other team has suffered—losing four straight in the Little World Series.

But their tormentors, the Montreal Royals, will be trying to add a little lustre to the Brooklyn organization dulled by the Dodger defeat in the World Series.

Montreal, the International League farm club of the Dodgers, swept the first three of the best-of-seven games series at Montreal and would like nothing better than to shut out the Blues, American Association farm team of the world champion New York Yankees.

Per acre corn yields in the United States rose from 22.6 bushels in 1933 to 40.6 in 1952 on the average.

Tastier Soup, Stew Seen for U.S. Army

GENEVA, N.Y. (UP) — Army menus may include more tasty soups and stews, if the promise shown by vegetable juice concentrates holds up under field conditions.

Tests conducted at the Cornell Experiment Station here showed freezing concentration of juices made from celery, onions, and white turnips retained their flavor and quality for 10 months when stored in ordinary glass bottles at room temperature.

Soups and stews made from dehydrated meats and vegetables hydrated meats and vegetables to which these concentrates were added were considered much better than mixtures made from the de- and cabbage were also concentrated by the same method, but although they retained their flavor none of them stood up under room temperatures for a sufficient lengt time to be of culinary value under Army field conditions.

Michigan families owned $12,942,000,000 worth of life insurance at the start of 1953.
